Wildly Cheering Algeria Crowds Greet Ben Bella

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Algerians hoisted flags, screamed praise and fired rifles into the air Friday in a hysterical welcome to Ahmed Ben Bella, leftist victory in a month-long struggle for power.

"Ya hya long live Ben Bella," they shouted as the dissident deputy premier arrived at the capital in triumph from Oran, his Western headquarters, aboard a chartered French DC3 airliner.

The man who successfully defied the central provisional government was lifted on the shoulders of joyous Algerians and carried through a side gate into the ornate prefecture — administration building — overlooking the waterfront. Unruly greeters had blocked the main entrance.

LARGE TURNOUT

A throng estimated at 20,000 massed on the waterfront boulevard and rhythmically roared Ben Bella's name. A forest of green and white flags rose over their heads.

No one paid attention to Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and other members of his regime who greeted Ben Bella in the prefecture.

Shots were fired into the air within the city in the traditional Arab welcome to a heroic leader.

Other shots were fired into the air by Algerian guerrillas in warning as newly formed Moudjah police units struggled helplessly with the crowds. Finally an appeal was made to French police officers to help.

Dozens of men and women fainted in the sizzling heat.

Backed by Algeria's 45,000-man regular army and with the reluctant consent of moderate rivals, Ben Bella is to take a guiding hand now in the destinies of this new nation through a seven-man Political Bureau he dominates. Two men of this bureau arrived with him.

Youth Dies In Mishap At Wisner

WINNSBORO (Special) — An 18-year-old Gilbert youth was electrocuted Friday at the G. & W. Co-op cotton gin just north of Wisner when the electric blower he was cleaning machinery with touched a metal brace, officers said.

Ben Kimble III's death was caused accidentally by electrocution, Franklin Parish Coroner Dr. Braisher Earle said. Franklin Sheriff's department assisted Dr. Earle in the investigation.

Kimble stood on the floor of the gin holding the portable blower at the time of the mishap. He failed to respond to artificial respiration.

Edwin E. Jones, gin manager, and employees Louis Boon and Robert Welch were present when Kimble was killed. Also at the gin was Charlie Stephens of Wisner.

Funeral services will be held at the Calvary Baptist Church of Gilbert at 3 p.m. today. The Rev. Sherwood Tullos of Chatham assisted by the Rev. John Meek, pastor will officiate.

Burial will follow in Central Cemetery near Wisner under direction of Mulhearn of Winnsboro. The body will lie in state in the funeral home until one hour before services.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Helen Kimble, Gilbert; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kimble Jr. of Gilbert; two sisters, Mrs. Linda Southern and Mrs. Penny Kimble, both of Wisner; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Stephens, Wisner; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Otice Kimble of Wisner.

Palibearers will be Jimmy Prather, Floyd Roberts, Chester Kinney, George Dupree, Harold Wilks, Cecil Switzer, Ronald Barton and Wayne Wade.

Error Blamed In Plant Blast

MINDEN, La. (AP) — The Army Friday blamed "human error" for the explosion at the top secret Louisiana Ordnance Plant here earlier this week that killed three persons.

Col. Karl I. Zilske, commanding officer of the plant, said a board of inquiry had come to the conclusion that "established procedures" were not followed before the early morning explosion last Tuesday.

Killed in the blast were Roy H. Pessell of Keithville, La., Charles E. Todd of Minden and Melvin E. Tullos of Waldo, Ark. Six other persons were slightly injured in the explosion on an ammunition assembly line.

Sterlington Mayor Quits Post Friday

Resigns Effective September First At Council Meet

Dr. C. B. Folds has resigned as mayor of Sterlington, effective Sept. 1.

The resignation was submitted Friday night at a special meeting of the Sterlington Town Council. Dr. Folds also sent a letter of resignation Friday to Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

PLANS MOVE

Dr. Folds announced that he plans to move his home and medical practice to Monroe "around Sept. 1."

A. T. Ward Jr. is mayor pro tem at Sterlington and will serve until the mayor's post is filled. Other members of the council are C. G. Drennan, O. K. Bailey, Mrs. Bill Jordan and J. B. Johnston Jr.

Dr. Folds was Sterlington's first mayor. He was appointed to the position by Gov. Davis when Sterlington was incorporated Aug. 15, 1961.

He and other members of the council were unopposed earlier this year when the filing deadline passed and were declared elected without an election being necessary.

Dr. Folds and members of the council were officially installed early in July to begin four-year terms.

A resident of Sterlington for the past three and one-half years, Dr. Folds was one of the leaders in the move to get the town incorporated. He formerly resided in Springhill before moving to Sterlington.

Dr. Folds is a native of West Monroe and a graduate of the Louisiana State University Medical School.

Regular monthly meeting of the Sterlington Town Council will be held Aug. 13.

LOSES HIS MOTHER

Boy, 7, Shoulders Man-Sized Burden

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Clarence Hathaway, 7, the eyes and ears of his blind and deaf parents since he could walk and talk, carried a new burden Friday on his small shoulders — loss of his mother.

Georgia Hathaway, 43, died Thursday night in Akron General Hospital where she was taken July 22. Her heart, weakened by rheumatic fever, stopped beating.

Clarence, a serious and quiet youngster, was red-eyed from weeping. His father, Harold, 60, padded his son's shoulder as they stood in the hospital corridor.

He then clutched the boy to his chest, stroked his head and said: "Whatever happens I want Clarence to stay with me always." Father and son had visited the hospital Thursday but did not get to see Mrs. Hathaway because of her poor condition. She had been in and out of the hospital several times this year.

BURIED BY CONCRETE

Span Mishap Fatal To Five

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP) — Scaffolding and steel beams gave way under tons of fresh concrete on a highway bridge construction project Friday, killing at least five men.

The bodies of the five, including a state highway inspector, were removed from debris under the span. The other victims were construction workers.

VICTIMS LISTED

Dead are: Richard Carl Stuelpnagel, 27, Rapid City; Charles Trainer, 32, Sioux Falls; S. P. (Tex) Bidwell, Sioux Falls; Axel Miller, Sioux Falls; Leon Raymond Belden, Sioux Falls and Lennox, S.D.

Stuelpnagel was a highway department inspector, while Bidwell was construction superintendent for the Jensen Construction Co., Sioux Falls. The Jensen firm had the contract for the project.

Tons of fresh concrete had been poured and the weight apparently was too much for the false work. Tons of steel, concrete and timber came crashing down as the shoring gave way.

John Grasl, of White, S.D., a workman, said he was under the structure when the accident happened. He said he dived out of the way but was partly buried. Another worker pulled him from the wreckage.

Harry Henjum, Coode, S.D., was working atop the bridge and went down with the collapsing forms. He was not covered, but suffered a head smash.

Rescue crews used draglines to clear the wreckage in the search for victims.

The accident scene was about 10 miles east of this western South Dakota city, at an access road to Ellsworth Air Force Base. The bridge being built will serve as an Interstate Highway 90 overpass. About 90 tons of concrete and 17 tons of steel were in the midsection of the span.

FAA APPROVAL LIKELY

Flight Engineers May Be Replaced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Agency FAA plans to approve a program under which Eastern Air Lines would train its pilots to replace striking flight engineers, informed sources said Friday.

Eastern asked the FAA to approve an expedited program for training co-pilots to move into the engineer slot and break the 41-day old strike.

The sources said the FAA was ready to certify the program, possibly with some minor changes. Details of the certification remain to be worked out.

VERDICT SOON

The agency probably will make an announcement within the next few days, possibly during the week end, the sources said.

According to a letter from R.A. Brown, president of the Flight Engineer's Union, to Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Eastern has given 80 co-pilots 24 hours of ground school. The co-pilots were issued flight engineer certificates pending approval of the new training program, Brown said.

The letter said Eastern's application, filed several weeks ago, said that with the ground school already received by the co-pilots, they needed only 24 more hours to qualify as engineers.

Morse said approval of the program by the FAA would be tantamount to a government agency helping to break a strike.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., however, urged that FAA director Najeeb Halaby approve the program. He said Halaby had no choice but to okay it or suggest to Eastern how it could be revised to meet standards.

New State Voter Test Authorized

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' state board of registration, which he heads, Friday adopted a key resolution directing all parish registrars to adopt the uniform voter registration program authorized by the 1962 legislature.

Board officials said the procedure not only would standardize registration operations throughout Louisiana, but would simplify the work of registrars in checking test results.

A new, written, multiple choice system of tests on constitutional questioning will be handed all voter applicants.

Applicants will pick at random one of 10 registration cards, each containing a different set of six multiple choice questions. Four must be checked correctly to qualify the applicants.

The State Sovereignty Commission, lawmakers, registrars, and district attorneys helped write the new uniform program.

A uniform, written, objective test is the idea, which sponsors said in no way can be viewed as discriminatory.

The board consists of Davis, Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock and House Speaker Tom Jewell.

Powell Says College Aid Bill Is Dead

Asserts Miracle Needed To Pass It This Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, said Friday the $1.5-billion college aid bill is dead for this session.

The House and Senate passed different versions of the bill more than six months ago but have never been able to work out a compromise.

HOPELESS

"It's hopeless," Powell said at a news conference. "It would be a miracle if it were passed."

Powell said he had talked to "more than one" member of the Senate who told him "we're not going to do a damn thing the administration wants." He would not identify the senators, but said they were "key members."

"I called the White House to day," Powell said, "and told them it was finished."

Both House and Senate bills would authorize $300 million a year for five years to build college academic facilities. The House bill would permit both loans and grants while the Senate bill was limited to scholarships that was not in the House bill.

The college bill once had bright prospects of becoming the first major educational measure passed under the Kennedy administration. But a series of circumstances have steadily undermined it.

The most crippling blow came when Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., refused to let the House and Senate go to conference and seek a compromise at the time the two bills were passed early in the session. That sent the House bill back to the rules committee where it languished for five months.

The issue was inflamed by the Supreme Court's ruling against the use of official prayers in public schools just as the House and Senate conferees finally got together and reported progress toward agreement.

The latest setback was the involvement of Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., in the filibuster against the communications satellite bill. Morse heads the Senate Education subcommittee and is chairman of the Senate conferees on the college bill.

Morse's all-out fight against the satellite bill has been taking up much of his time.

Lightning Hits Police Radio In West Monroe

A bolt out of the blue disrupted radio communications but didn't disturb the West Monroe police department Friday afternoon.

Lightning struck the police radio aerial above the water tank near West Monroe Junior High School during the rain. The bolt surged downward and decommissioned the department's big console locked-up below.

Determined not to let their auto and motorcycle patrols go without communication, the West Monroe police pulled a motorcycle beside the station window and used its microphone for about two hours.

Police Chief Jeff Caldwell said "We found debris scattered all over the place." Chief Caldwell said the accident was the second one within about six weeks.

Afternoon Rain Breaks Drought

The drought in the Twin Cities was broken Friday afternoon with a sudden 37 inch deluge. A temperatures dropped but not before the day's high of 95 hot degrees had been recorded.

Today's forecast calls for about the same with partly cloudy skies and scattered afternoon showers predicted. The high today is expected to be 94 with the low forecast at 74. Friday's low reading was 73.

Veterans Insurance Legislation Okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 16 million veterans could apply for the insurance bargain, but expect perhaps up to 3 million to do so.

The Senate measure gives the Veterans Administration a year after enactment of the law to work up application blanks. Then the veterans have a year in which to apply.

Eligible military service is defined as that between Oct. 7, 1940, and Jan. 1, 1957.

The Senate committee bill provided that the Veterans Administration may change the premium rates every two years to reflect the actual cost of the program.

The Senate committee also reported out legislation providing for a cost-of-living increase for disabled veterans. The cost has been estimated at about $90 million.

Row Flares At Satellite Bill Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., threatened Friday to renew a filibuster against the administration's communications satellite bill.

Morse, one of the leaders of a group which blocked Senate consideration of the measure for five days, got into a row with Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., and promised to answer Wiley "at some length after Aug. 10."

TRUCE TO END

That is the date set for return of the bill to the Senate floor under a truce diverting it to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for further hearings.

The flareup came at a committee session at which Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy urged passage of the measure as "one of the most important pieces of legislation offered by this administration."

Kennedy cut short his testimony to catch a plane for the West Coast and was replaced in the witness chair by Newton N. Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Minow, who described the bill as a marriage of government and free enterprise, with the two in harness together to launch and operate a global system of communication satellites, underwent extensive questioning by Morse.

Wiley broke in at one point to say that committee members were supposed to ask questions, "not deliver sermons."

"Never mind talking, ask your questions," he told Morse. "The senator from Wisconsin can protest to high heaven," Morse said, "but he hasn't been (Continued On Page Three-A)

Gas Blast, Fire Raze Residences

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A gas main blew up at a residential intersection Friday, demolishing nine homes and damaging more than a dozen others, many of them badly.

Three persons, including a fireman, were injured or burned, but none was reported in serious condition.

The blast occurred in a hilly area of low-cost bungalows and two-story residences built close together on narrow lots. The site is just northwest of the Country Club Plaza, an area of plush shops and apartment buildings.

The six-inch gas main blew up where Wyming Street intersects 46th Street. A hole about 30 feet across and 15 feet deep was opened in Wyming.

A house on the southeast corner was flattened. The southwest corner was a vacant lot, but a house just south of it was destroyed by fire.

The greatest destruction from this point was northward. Four houses on the west side and three on the east were destroyed down to their foundations.

Other houses were damaged in varying degrees.

Hours after the mid-afternoon explosion firemen still were pouring water on the ruins.

Witnesses said a minor blast or rumble preceded the main explosion, which sent flames towering into the air.

What ignited the gas was not determined.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Clarence Hathaway, 7, the eyes and ears of his blind and deaf parents since he could walk and talk, carried a new burden Friday on his small shoulders — loss of his mother.

Georgia Hathaway, 43, died Thursday night in Akron General Hospital where she was taken July 22. Her heart, weakened by rheumatic fever, stopped beating.

Father and son had visited the hospital Thursday but did not get to see Mrs. Hathaway because of her poor condition. She had been in and out of the hospital several times this year.

About midnight they returned to the hospital in company of Ronald Harper, police chief at nearby Stow where the Hathaways live. Harper wrote with his finger on Hathaway's palm: "She is dead" and the father told his son.

Aware for some time of her serious condition, Mrs. Hathaway confided to friends she hoped to live until her son grew up.

Despite his age, Clarence is grown up in many ways. He does many of the household chores in the three-room cottage and helps with the shopping.

The Hathaways were married in Kansas after a romance conducted by letters written in Braille. Clarence, who has normal hearing and vision, was born Feb. 17, 1955. His mother insisted she could care for him.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee today approved legislation reopening low-premium national service life insurance to millions of veterans who never had it or who let it lapse.

The House Veterans Committee voted today a parallel bill Thursday. The way is now clear for early passage of the legislation by both houses.

The Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations opposed the idea earlier. But only recently President Kennedy changed his mind. The administration insists, however, that World War II and Korean War veterans who are still in service during the 12-month open period should not be eligible.

The Veterans Administration has estimated that between 14 and 16 million veterans could apply for the insurance bargain, but expects perhaps up to 3 million to do so.

The Senate measure gives the Veterans Administration a year after enactment of the law to work up application blanks. Then the veterans have a year in which to apply.

Eligible military service is defined as that between Oct. 7, 1940, and Jan. 1, 1957.

The Senate committee bill provided that the Veterans Administration may change the premium rates every two years to reflect the actual cost of the program.

The Senate committee also reported out legislation providing for a cost-of-living increase for disabled veterans. The cost has been estimated at about $98 million.

Row Flares
Bill Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., threatened Friday to renew a filibuster against the administration's communications satellite bill.

Morse, one of the leaders of a group which blocked Senate consideration of the measure for five days, got into a row with Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., and promised to answer Wiley "at some length after Aug. 10."

TRUCE TO END

That is the date set for return of the bill to the Senate floor under a truce diverting it to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for further hearings.

The flareup came at a committee session at which Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy urged passage of the measure as "one of the most important pieces of legislation offered by this administration."

Kennedy cut short his testimony to catch a plane for the West Coast and was replaced in the witness chair by Newton N. Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Minow, who described the bill as a marriage of government and free enterprise, with the two in harness together to launch and operate a global system of communication satellites, underwent extensive questioning by Morse.

Wiley broke in at one point to say that committee members were supposed to ask questions, "not deliver sermons."

"Never mind talking, ask your questions," he told Morse.

"The senator from Wisconsin can protest to high heaven," Morse said, "but he hasn't been

Gas Blast,
Fire Raze
Residences

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A gas main blew up at a residential intersection Friday, demolishing nine homes and damaging more than a dozen others, many of them badly.

Three persons, including a fireman, were injured or burned, but none was reported in serious condition.

The blast occurred in a hilly area of low-cost bungalows and two-story residences built close together on narrow lots. The site is just northwest of the Country Club Plaza, an area of plush shops and apartment buildings.

The six-inch gas main blew up where Wyoming Street intersects 46th Street. A hole about 30 feet across and 15 feet deep was opened in Wyoming.

A house on the southeast corner was flattened. The southwest corner was a vacant lot, but a house just south of it was destroyed by fire.

The greatest destruction from this point was northward. Four houses on the west side and three on the east were destroyed down to their foundations.

Other houses were damaged in varying degrees. Hours after the mid-afternoon explosion firemen still were pouring water on the ruins.

Witnesses said a minor blast or rumble preceded the main explosion, which sent flames towering into the air.

What ignited the gas was not determined.

29 Cases Heard In Monroe Court Activity Friday

Judge W. M. Harper presided Friday over city court in Monroe. The docket was large, with a total of 29 cases handled ranging from theft to parking violations.

Convicted of theft and sentenced to pay $350 and costs or serve seven months in jail was a 19-year-old Negro woman, Doloris Ann Allen, 308 Foster Homes, Monroe.

Charges against a second woman charged with theft, this time by check, were nolle prossed.

Found guilty of speeding and fined, respectively, $43 and $23 were Helen C. Sikes, 27, 210 Auburn, Monroe, and Sherry L. Sims, 311 4th St., Rayville, 22.

Fined for reckless driving were Alfred Dunlap, 17, Negro, 2011 Church St., Monroe, $30; Ed Haynes, Negro, route 3, box 157, Rayville, $30; James D. Perry Jr., 39, Negro, 3015 Owl St., Monroe, $30; and Willie A. Robertson, 24, Negro, 2011 Olive St., Monroe, $0.

Two persons charged with reckless driving were nolle prossed by Judge Harper.

Fined $30 apiece for following too closely and colliding with the preceding vehicle in separate mishaps were Earl D. McClure, 26, route 1, box 123, Calhoun and Rodney J. Nolan, 19, route 4, box 226, West Monroe.

In other traffic cases, fines of $0, $13 and $30 were levied for running stop signs, $0 for running red lights and $15 for improper muffler.

Two persons were fined $12 for single overparking offenses; a third was fined $23 for a dozen violations.

An $8 fine was set for one person driving an overheight truck inside the city limits. The case against a man for driving with a valid license was dismissed as was one for attempted battery.

Also thrown out was a Negro woman's attempt to obtain a peace warrant against her husband.

Citizens Send JFK Coconuts Asking Help

GARY, Ind. (UPI)—Fifty coconuts with messages asking help from President Kennedy to "clean up" this steel city were en route to the White House Friday.

The Glen Park Citizens Association said the coconuts were symbolic of a coconut the President is said to have used in a plea for help after his PT boat was wrecked in the Pacific during World War II.

Officials of the Glen Park group said their members bought all the coconuts they could find in groceries and supermarkets. They inscribed them with pleas for help, then hauled them to the post office to be mailed.

"We'll keep sending coconuts until we get a federal investigation of corruption in our city," said William Macowink, an official of the group.

Canada Polio Cases Decline

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's 1962 paralytic polio count stood at 20 on July 28, the health department reported Friday.

The figure was down from 61 a year ago and 346 in the same period of 1960.

Polio claimed two deaths in the Jan. 1-July 28 period. One in Quebec and the other in Alberta. A year ago the death toll was one.

Prayer Ban Ruling Defended By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court's 4-1 decision outlawing the New York State public school prayer was misunderstood and produced the heaviest volume of critical mail in years, Associate Justice Tom C. Clark declared Friday.

Justice Clark said he was breaking custom by commenting on specific decisions but he believed it appropriate in the public school prayer case.

"Here was a state-written prayer circulated to state-employed teachers with instructions to have their pupils recite it in unison at the beginning of each school day," Justice Clark said.

"The Constitution says that the government shall take NO part in the establishment of religion. No means no."

"As soon as the people learned that this was all the court decided—not that there could be no official recognition of a Divine Being or recognition on silver or currency of, 'In God We Trust' or public acknowledgment that we are a religious nation—they understood the basis on which the court acted."

Clark, in San Francisco for the American Bar Association, made his comments before the Commonwealth Club.

Professor Has Article Printed

Dr. Daniel Dupree, chairman of the mathematics department at Northeast Louisiana State College, has contributed an article to Progress Report No. 2 on Studies in the Fields of Space Flight and Guidance Theory of the George C. Marshall Space Flight and Guidance Theory of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Dupree's paper presents sufficiency conditions for the existence of multivariable least-squares approximating functions. The theorem developed shows that there exists at least one squares solution except in very special cases.

Aid Sought In Finding Lost Soldier

Area residents have been asked by a Monroe man to help find a Fort Polk soldier, missing since May 23.

Melvin Evans of 1510 Alabama St. in Monroe says he fears Bobby Dixon Green may have met with foul play after last being seen May 23. Evans met Green at Fort Polk last December after both had been called up in the reserves. Evans was released from the service March 23. Green was slated to get out in July.

Evans said he did not believe Green was AWOL.

"I know the boy well enough that he wouldn't just go AWOL," he said. "He and his father own Southwestern Road Boring Co. at Houston, Tex."

Green left the title of his car, all his clothing and more than $1,000 in the bank at Fort Polk. "If a man was going to leave, he would not do that," said Evans. He also said Green left about four days before payday, another indication he did not go AWOL. Green, 25, was last seen in civilian clothes, driving his new 1962 green Thunderbird with Texas license plate TI-4852, with Fort Polk stickers.

He is described as five feet, nine inches tall, weighing 163 pounds. He has light blond hair, combed straight back, blue eyes and a light complexion.

The FBI has joined in the missing Texas.

"He's a real nice type of guy, not high tempered at all," said Evans. "He gets along with everybody real well. Everybody likes him."

Green has two sisters, and is the only boy in the family. Evans said he often spoke of his parents and "didn't like for them to worry about him."

"He always talked about getting out, going back home and helping out in the business," Evans said. "The family is pretty well off."

Green finished high school, was drafted into the service, served three years, including 18 months in Germany, then returned to Houston, where he was called up in the Army Reserves, 49th Division.

"He didn't like being called back in, but he always said it was better to stay and stick it out, because he had too much to lose by leaving," Evans said.

Both Evans and Green's father were called 14 days after Green's disappearance. Both have been to the Fort Polk area searching for Green or his car.

"I went down there, looked around, met his father, and checked all the places we used to go, to see if any of the people down there had seen him. None had," Evans said. "There are so many things that could have happened to him, I'd be afraid to say."

British To End Jamaica Rule

X-Ray Meeting Underway Here; Will End Today

A business session, buffet supper and a dance occupied about 50 members of the Louisiana Society of X-Ray Technicians attending the organization's fifth annual convention here Friday afternoon and last night.

The convention will end on the Francis Hotel roof tonight with a banquet and the installation of officers.

A welcome to Monroe from Mayor Pro Tem H. W. McSherry opened the conclave Friday morning at the Francis and then the delegates heard lectures on cholangiography, ethics of an X-ray technician, the urinary tract, anomalies in children, problems concerning schools of X-ray technology and hysterosalpingograms.

The buffet supper was held at the Penn Hotel last night and the dance at the Francis.

A talk by Richard Olden, representative of the American Society of X-Ray Technicians and administrative assistant in the department of radiology at Johns Hopkins Medical Institution, is scheduled today along with a business session. Olden will talk on "Instructional Techniques."

The Northeast Louisiana Society of X-Ray Technicians is host for the conference.

Student Slated At Phi Beta Meet

Northeast State student Retay McBride will attend the golden anniversary convention of Phi Beta, national professional speech fraternity, in Chicago Aug. 22-26.

Miss McBride, president of Alpha Nu collegiate chapter, will go by plane from New Orleans to Chicago and stay at the Drake Hotel, convention headquarters, as guest of the national organization. A sophomore speech major, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McBride of Davenport.

The Northeast coed will represent the local chapter at a series of forums, seminars and business meetings.

Albany Ends Testimony In Racial Case

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—City officials, seeking a permanent injunction to end integrationist demonstrations here, rested their case in federal court Friday after five days of testimony from 23 witnesses. The city alleged the demonstrations amounted to violence.

The last witness called by the city was Charles Jones, field secretary for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) who said sporadic demonstrations were designed to call attention to segregation ordinances in the city.

"Do you understand that you have the right to resort to the courts for legal redress in any denied you?" city attorney Grady Rawls asked.

"No, I don't know of any legal procedures that would force a climax of the thing we are concerned with here," Jones replied.

Adjourned Until Tuesday
Judge Robert Elliott adjourned the hearing until next Tuesday, when the defense will be heard.

Negro lawyers had sought to throw out the city's suit early in the hearing on grounds the federal district judge did not have jurisdiction in the case. But Elliott rejected the motion. A temporary injunction had been granted in July by Elliott and then invalidated four days later by another judge.

Couple Indicted For Death Of Young Daughter

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—A grand jury Friday indicted a 300-pound warehouse worker and his 28-year-old wife on charges of second degree manslaughter in the death of their five-year-old daughter, kept prisoner for three years.

Joseph E. Schwartzfigure, 37, has been jailed since the child died of malnutrition on July 7. His wife, Mary, has been undergoing psychiatric examinations since their arraignment July 9.

The girl, Deborah, was one of six children. When she died she weighed only 21 pounds. She was 38 inches tall.

Mrs. Schwartzfigure told police she kept the girl prisoner in an upstairs bedroom because "I'm mad at my husband."

Police said she beat her husband with a washing machine hose when he complained to her about the way she was treating the child. He stopped complaining after that.

Schwartzfigure did not see the girl for six weeks prior to her death.

Hearing Begins In Tulane Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Attorneys for two Negro girls seeking admission to Tulane University introduced more than 50 documents Friday to support their federal court case.

Plaintiffs claim that the university is a continuation of the public University of Louisiana and retains sufficient state contacts to fall within the scope of the 14th day.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank B. Ellis, who is conducting a full trial on the case's merits, permitted introduction of documents that directly involve Tulane or its officials, despite objections from attorneys for the university.

John Pat Little, representing Tulane, argued that most of the documents — which ranged in date from 1847 to 1961 — were irrelevant to the principal questions for two Negro girls seeking admission to Tulane University introduced more than 50 documents Friday to support their federal court case.

The Glen Park Citizens Association said the coconuts were symbolic of a coconut the President is said to have used in a plea for help after his PT boat was wrecked in the Pacific during World War II.

Officials of the Glen Park group said their members bought all the coconuts they could find in groceries and supermarkets. They inscribed them with pleas for help, then hauled them to the post office to be mailed.

"We'll keep sending coconuts until we get a federal investigation of corruption in our city," said William Macowiak, an official of the group.

Canada Polio
Cases Decline

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's 1962 paralytic polio count stood at 36 on July 28, the health department reported Friday.

The figure was down from 61 a year ago and 346 in the same period of 1960.

Polio claimed two deaths in the Jan. 1-July 28 period. One in Quebec and the other in Alberta. A year ago the death toll was one.

Prayer Ban Ruling
Defended By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court's 6-1 decision outlawing the New York State public school prayer was misunderstood and produced the heaviest volume of critical mail in years, Associate Justice Tom C. Clark declared Friday.

Justice Clark said he was breaking custom by commenting on specific decisions but he believed it appropriate in the public school prayer case.

"Here was a state-written prayer circulated to state-employed teachers with instructions to have their pupils recite it in unison at the beginning of each school day," Justice Clark said.

"The Constitution says that the government shall take NO part in the establishment of religion. No means no."

"As soon as the people learned that this was all the court decided—not that there could be no official recognition of a Divine Being or recognition on silver or currency of, 'In God We Trust' or public acknowledgement that we are a religious nation—they understood the basis on which the court acted."

Clark, in San Francisco for the American Bar Association, made his comments before the Common-wealth Club.

Clark said the decision had come down with 15 other cases on the last day of the court term.

"The news announcements were not complete, most of them reciting the content of this 22-word prayer and the fact that the court had held it unconstitutional for a teacher to have her pupils recite it," he said.

Justice Clark said errors often were made in interpreting the court's opinions because of "the haste with which news agencies are obliged to cover our announcements."

Justice Clark said the initial trend of mail turned to favorable when the news agencies began to interpret the school prayer decision in the light of the facts.

Aid Sought
In Finding Lost Soldier

Area residents have been asked by a Monroe man to help find a Fort Polk soldier, missing since May 23.

Melvin Evans of 1510 Alabama St. in Monroe says he fears Bobby Dixon Green may have met with foul play after last being seen May 23. Evans met Green at Fort Polk last December after both had been called up in the reserves. Evans was released from the service. March 23. Green was slated to get out in July.

Evans said he did not believe Green was AWOL.

"I know the boy well enough that he wouldn't just go AWOL," he said. "He and his father own Southwestern Road Boring Co. at Houston, Tex."

Green left the title of his car, all his clothing and more than $1,000 in the bank at Fort Polk. "If a man was going to leave, he would not do that," said Evans. He also said Green left about four days before payday, another indication he did not go AWOL.

Green, 25, was last seen in civilian clothes, driving his new 1962 green Thunderbird with Texas license plate TL-4852, with Fort Polk stickers.

He is described as five feet, nine inches tall, weighing 183 pounds. He has light blond hair, combed straight back, blue eyes and a light complexion.

The FBI has joined in the missing Texas.

"He's a real nice type of guy, not high tempered at all," said Evans. "He gets along with everybody real well. Everybody likes him."

Green has two sisters, and is the only boy in the family. Evans said he often spoke of his parents and "didn't like for them to worry about him."

"He always talked about getting out, going back home and helping out in the business," Evans said. "The family is pretty well off."

Green finished high school, was drafted into the service, served three years, including 18 months in Germany, then returned to Houston, where he was called up in the Army Reserves, 49th Division.

"He didn't like being called back in, but he always said it was better to stay and stick it out, because he had too much to lose by leaving," Evans said.

Both Evans and Green's father were called 14 days after Green's disappearance. Both men have been to the Fort Polk area searching for Green or his car.

"I went down there, looked around, met his father, and checked all the places we used to go, to see if any of the people down there had seen him. None had," Evans said. "There are so many things that could have happened to him, I'd be afraid to say."

British To End
Jamaica Rule

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI)—Jamaica becomes an independent sovereign state within the British Commonwealth of Nations Monday, ending 300 years of British rule.

At the helm to guide the British colony's first independent government will be Laborite Sir Alexander Bustamante.

X-Ray Meeting
Underway Here;
Will End Today

A business session, buffet supper and a dance occupied about 50 members of the Louisiana Society of X-Ray Technicians attending the organization's fifth annual convention here Friday afternoon and last night.

The convention will end on the Francis Hotel roof tonight with a banquet and the installation of officers.

A welcome to Monroe from Mayor Pro-Tem H. W. McSherry opened the convocation Friday morning at the Francis and then the delegates heard lectures on cholangiograph, ethics of an X-ray technician, the urinary tract, anomalies in children, problems concerning schools of X-ray technology and hystero-

The buffet supper was held at the Penn Hotel last night and the dance at the Francis.

A talk by Richard Olden, representative of the American Society of X-Ray Technicians and administrative assistant in the department of radiology at John Hopkins Medical Institution, is scheduled today along with a business session. Olden will talk on "Instructional Techniques."

The Northeast Louisiana Society of X-Ray Technology is host for the conference.

Student Slated
At Phi Beta Meet

Northeast State student Betsy McBride will attend the golden anniversary convention of Phi Beta, national professional speech fraternity, in Chicago Aug. 22-26.

Miss McBride, president of Alpha Nu collegiate chapter, will go by plane from New Orleans to Chicago and stay at the Drake Hotel, convention headquarters, as guest of the national organization. A sophomore speech major, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McBride of Davant.

The Northeast coed will represent the local chapter at a series of forums, seminars and business meetings.

Albany Ends
Racial Case

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—City officials, seeking a permanent injunction to end integrationist demonstrations here, rested their case in federal court Friday after five days of testimony from 23 witnesses. The city alleged the demonstrations amounted to violence.

The last witness called by the city was Charles Jones, field secretary for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) who said sporadic demonstrations were designed to call attention to segregation ordinances in the city.

"Do you understand that you have the right to resort to the courts for legal redress in any denied you?" city attorney Grady Rawls asked.

"No, I don't know of any legal procedures that would force a climax of the thing we are concerned with here," Jones replied.

Adjourned Until Tuesday

Judge Robert Elliott adjourned the hearing until next Tuesday, when the defense will be heard.

Negro lawyers had sought to throw out the city's suit early in the hearing on grounds the federal district judge did not have jurisdiction in the case. But Elliott rejected the motion. A temporary injunction had been granted in July by Elliott and then invalidated four days later by another judge.

Couple Indicted For Death Of Young Daughter

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—A grand jury Friday indicted a 300-pound warehouse worker and his 28-year-old wife on charges of second degree manslaughter in the death of their five-year-old daughter, kept prisoner for three years.

Joseph E. Schwartzfigure, 37, has been jailed since the child died of malnutrition on July 7. His wife, Mary, has been undergoing psychiatric examinations since their arraignment July 9.

The girl, Deborah, was one of six children. When she died she weighed only 21 pounds. She was 38 inches tall.

Mrs. Schwartzfigure told police she kept the girl prisoner in an upstairs bedroom because "I'm mad at my husband."

Police said she beat her husband with a washing machine hose when he complained to her about the way she was treating the child. He stopped complaining after that.

Schwartzfigure did not see the girl for six weeks prior to her death.

Hearing Begins
In Tulane Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Attorneys for two Negro girls seeking admission to Tulane University introduced more than 50 documents Friday to support their federal court case.

Plaintiffs claim that the university is a continuation of the public University of Louisiana and retains sufficient state contacts to fall within the scope of the 14th Amendments.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank B. Ellis, who is conducting a full trial on the case's merits, permitted introduction of documents that directly involve Tulane or its officials, despite objections from attorneys for the university.

John Pat Little, representing Tulane, argued that most of the documents—which ranged in date from 1847 to 1961—were irrelevant to the principal question whether the university was today a public institution.

John Nelson Jr., who argued the case for the two Negroes, Barbara Marie Guillory and Pearlle Hardin Elloie, called 10 witnesses to identify various documents. He said he would call two more when the trial resumes at 10 a.m. Monday.

Earlier, Judge Ellis took under advisement a defense motion to delay a federal court decision pending state court action on various legal questions involved in the case. He said he would rule on this question at the same time as he decided the case's merits.

Little argued that there were five points of state law involved that "can only be decided in the state courts" and should be settled "before we proceed." Nelson said the motion was filed "primarily for purposes of delay."

Little listed these key questions:

1. The legal status of the contract between the administrators of the Tulane Educational Funds, Act 43 of the 1884 Legislature, and whether this maintains the institution's prior public status or creates a new, private university;

2. The legal effect on the board of administrators of restrictions in donations to the university;

3. Whether or not the board of administrators is a state agency;

4. Whether the Louisiana courts have decided the university's status; and

5. Whether the original property of Tulane's predecessor, the University of Louisiana, belongs to the university or the state.

In opposing Little's motion, Nelson said the only thing at issue in the case was a "federal constitutional question" and that no grounds existed for the plaintiffs to bring action in a state court.

The restrictions against admission of Negroes, city by Tulane, were placed in donations by Paul Tulane and Mrs. Josephine Newcomb under which the Tulane Educational Fund was established. The university said last year it was willing to admit all qualified students of race, but that it was prevented from doing so by these clauses.

Journal Accepts
Price's Article

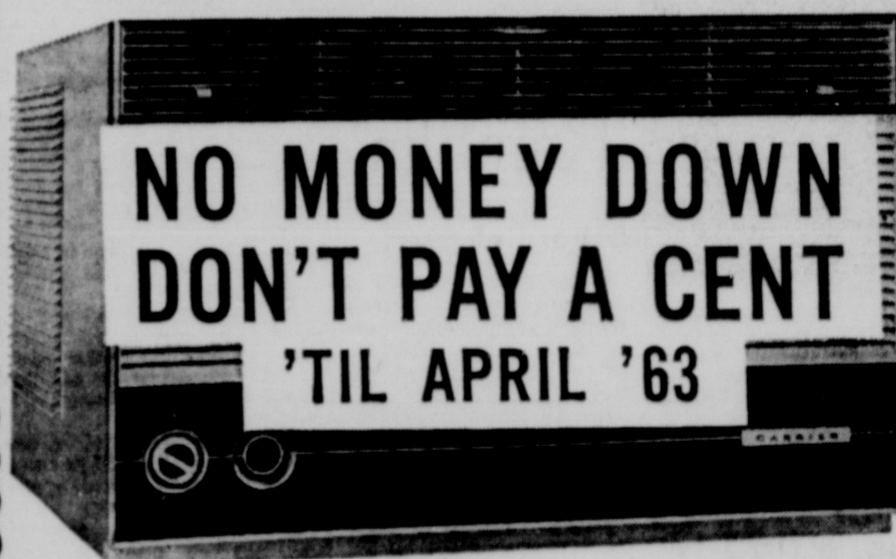

L. L. Price, chairman of the agriculture department at Northeast Louisiana State College, has written an article "Seed Germination by Scarifying of the Coral Bean—Erythrina Herbacea" which will appear in the next issue of the official journal of the National Association for College Agriculture Teachers.

The coral plant is a member of the family Leguminosae and is either a tree, shrub herb, commonly thorny with leaves of three broad leaflets, showing red or reddish or yellowish, nearly papilionaceous flowers in racemes, and elongated pods constricted between the seed.

Missing Nepali Airliner Found

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The American aid officials, were reported safe. There was no immediate confirmation from any other available source.

The Americans aboard were Sidney B. Jacques, 51, and Oscar Curtis Holder, 50, both U.S. foreign aid inspectors from Washington, D.C.

Also among the passengers were a Canadian woman, Miss C. J. Grindley of Toronto, and Nepal's ambassador to India, Nararatap Thapa, 35.

The Area Control Office said: The magistrate of the Bahrach district of India's Uttar Pradesh State has been told by the chief executive officer at Bardia village that the plane was located in a dry tank—reservoir—five miles north of Bardia.

JFK Arrives For Weekend At Cape Cod

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President John F. Kennedy arrived on Cape Cod Monday night for another weekend with his family at the summer White House overlooking Nantucket Sound.

The President's plane landed at Otis Air Force Base. He spent nearly 10 minutes on the ground before boarding a helicopter for the 22-mile shuttle hop to Hyannis Port.

At the President's request, two Fairhaven men waited at the field so he could thank them in person for gifts sent to him two weeks ago.

One of the gifts was a sperm whale tooth, carved with a portrait of the President and with a facsimile of his signature. The whale tooth carving, called scrimshaw by the whalers of years ago, was the work of Milton Delano of Fairhaven, Delano is a remote cousin of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The other gift was a coin commemorating the sesquicentennial of Fairhaven, sent to him by Walter J. Borowicz, chairman of the Fairhaven Selectmen. The President thanked the two men for the gifts and told Delano the carved tooth "was really wonderful—I don't know how you do that kind of work."

Delano explained that he originally planned the scrimshaw as a gift for the President's ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

"Thank you for that thought," the President told Delano.

The President then asked Delano if there was any old scrimshaw now available for collectors and Delano told him it is possible to find some.

The President greeted on his arrival at Otis by Col. Rudolph R. Walters, who this week took over command of Otis Air Force Base.

The President then walked along a road off area where more than 500 were on hand to greet him. He shook hands with a few and then stopped to talk and to shake hands with a number of a group of more than 200 ROTC air cadets, who are in summer training.

DREADED 'BLACK DEATH'

Pneumonic Plague Strikes In Britain

LONDON (AP)—The disease that killed a British germ scientist was identified Friday night as pneumonic plague—the dread Black Death which ravaged Europe in the Middle Ages—and health authorities stood guard to prevent it sweeping across southern England.

Precautions were rushed into effect after the War Office announced the result of an autopsy on George A. Bacon, 44, research officer at Britain's principal germ warfare establishment.

given the power to censor the senator from Oregon.

Wiley drew from Minnow that many of the policy questions Morse raised about the proposed privately owned, government-regulated satellite corporation would still exist if the government owned and operated it.

Morse, who contends along with several other Democrats that the corporation should be government-owned and operated, said: "The senator temple me. I will answer him and Mr. Minnow at some length after Aug. 10."

Wiley stood up and said, "I have no doubt it will be at some length."

Then he walked out of the room saying, "You'll have to excuse me. I can't take any more."

Minnow testified the government is not equipped to operate a communications system of its own.

Morse said he will offer an amendment to require the corporation to handle government business at cost, but Minnow said other governments would want "reciprocal rates" and this would necessitate an international agreement.

Minnow noted that 52 per cent of the private corporation's profits would be returned to the government in taxes. If government message rates were reduced to cost, he said, other users would have to pay the difference.

Throughout the afternoon, Edward R. Murrow, director of the U.S. Information Agency, waited to be called. After a wrangle over holding a night session, it was decided to defer Murrow's testimony until Monday, when Secretary of State Dean Rusk also is scheduled to be heard.

Kennedy said he fought against turning the proposed satellite corporation over to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and other big firms.

He said he is satisfied that the present plan, providing for 50-50 ownership by the public and the communications industry, will protect both the government's interests and the public's.

The President's brother made an abbreviated appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when it opened hearings on a bill that ran up against a Senate filibuster last week.

"I don't think this corporation is being turned over to the AT&T," Kennedy said. "I fought against the bill that was promoted by others."

Senator Attacks Policy In Congo

WASHINGTON (UPI)—United States policy in the strife-ravaged Congo was attacked and defended in the Senate Friday.

The exchange was brought on by a speech by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who called for a 50 per cent reduction of the United Nations military force in Katanga. He also charged that the U.S. ambassador had been recalled as part of a "horse-swap" for the removal of U.N. director Rejeanwar Dayal in 1961.

While Dodd's speech was applauded by two senators, Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., and Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, sharply defended Kennedy administration policy in the Congo.

Humphrey, lashing out at what he termed "reckless" charges, told the Senate that Katanga President Moïse Tshombe is "walking arm in arm with every known enemy of the United States and of freedom."

Humphrey also replied to Sen. Barry Goldwater, Ariz., who criticized candidates of the anti-Communist APRA party in Peru. He said he was shocked by Goldwater's earlier statement because the APRA party was the "only one in Peru" whose candidates "took an oath to fight Communists" and did so.

Dodd, who has been critical of U.S. Congo policy for months and who visited the Congo last November, said this country "courts disaster" unless it alters its Congo policy.

He questioned the recall of Ambassador Clare H. Timberlake in June 1961, saying it appeared to be a trade for the removal of have any identification?

Missing Nepali Airliner Found

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The American aid officials, were reported safe. There was no immediate confirmation from any other available source.

The Americans aboard were Sidney B. Jacques, 51, and Oscar Curtis Holder, 50, both U.S. foreign aid inspectors from Washington, D.C.

Also among the passengers were a Canadian woman, Miss C. J. Grindley of Toronto, and Nepal's ambassador to India, Narapat Thapa, 35.

The Area Control Office said: "The magistrate of the Bahraich district of (India's) Uttar Pradesh State has been told by the chief executive officer at Bardia village that the plane was located in a dry tank — reservoir — five miles north of Bardia."

JFK Arrives For Weekend At Cape Cod

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President John F. Kennedy arrived on Cape Cod Monday night for another weekend with his family at the summer White House overlooking Nantucket Sound.

The President's plane landed at Otis Air Force Base. He spent nearly 10 minutes on the ground before boarding a helicopter for the 22-mile shuttle hop to Hyannis Port.

At the President's request, two Fairhaven men waited at the field so he could thank them in person for gifts sent to him two weeks ago.

One of the gifts was a sperm whale tooth, carved with a portrait of the President and with a facsimile of his signature. The whale tooth carving, called scrimshaw by the whalers of years ago, was the work of Milton Delano of Fairhaven. Delano is a remote cousin of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The other gift was a coin commemorating the sesquicentennial of Fairhaven, sent to him by Walter J. Borowicz, chairman of the Fairhaven Selectmen. The President thanked the two men for the gifts and told Delano the carved tooth "was really wonderful—I don't know how you do that kind of work."

Delano explained that he originally planned the scrimshaw as a gift for the President's ailing father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

"Thank you for that thought," the President told Delano. The President then asked Delano if there was any old scrimshaw now available for collectors and Delano told him it is possible to find some.

The President greeted on his arrival at Otis by Col. Rudolph B. Walters, who this week took over command of Otis Air Force Base.

The President then walked along a roped-off area where more than 500 were on hand to greet him. He shook hands with a few and then stopped to talk and to shake hands with a number of a group of more than 200 ROTC air cadets, who are in summer training.

DREADED 'BLACK DEATH'

Pneumonic Plague Strikes In Britain

LONDON (AP)—The disease that killed a British germ war scientist was identified Friday night as pneumonic plague—the dread Black Death which ravaged Europe in the Middle Ages—and health authorities stood guard to prevent it sweeping across southern England.

Precautions were rushed into effect after the War Office announced the result of an autopsy on George A. Bacon, 44, research officer at Britain's principal germ warfare establishment.

Germans Give Ike Big Sendoff For Paris Visit

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower left Germany for Paris on Friday night with a hearty sendoff from an applauding and cheering crowd that jammed the railroad platform.

Although he had planned his visit as a private tourist trip, the former president was dogged throughout his two-day visit by enthusiastic crowds that forced him to curtail some of his planned sightseeing.

If this bothered him, he never showed it in public and on departure thanked the people of Cologne for their welcome.

"I like these people. I admire and respect them. And I want to thank the people of Cologne for the courteous and heartwarming welcome they gave me," he told newsmen.

The Eisenhower party — including his wife and two grandchildren — left here in a special three-car train that was to be attached later to the regular overnight Paris express.

A high point of his visit to West Germany was a warm reunion with 86-year-old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Thursday night in Bonn.

Monks Survive Parachute Drop, Hamsters Die

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (UPI)—Two rhesus monkeys are in excellent condition after a 2,000-mile balloon ride and parachute drop into the wilds of Canada, but four hamsters who took the same trip succumbed Friday to the rigors of rescue.

The animals had made the trip from Goose Bay, Labrador, to a spot 50 miles northeast of Prince Albert, Sask., at altitudes of more than 25 miles to test effects of cosmic radiation on future space travelers.

Dr. Robert Scheffman, who followed the animal-carrying balloon by plane on its 51-hour trip, said: "The monkeys are as healthy as I am. In fact they are probably more rested."

But he reported that the sensitive hamsters were alive when the rescue party picked them up, but died before they could be brought out of the Canadian wilds.

The balloon carried four capsules, one of which contained the monkeys and hamsters.

It was the second of four balloon flights scheduled by the Ames Research Center, Sunnyvale, Calif., in preparation for manned flight to the moon.

Monkeys and hamsters on the first flight which began July 14 were killed by excessive heat when the capsule cooling system failed.

Kennedy And Satellite

Some praise for and some criticism of President Kennedy is given by Senator Allen Ellender, D., La. One item on which he accords him praise is that of the communications satellite bill, which has drawn a vigorous attack by the extreme advocates of government ownership. Ellender has lauded Kennedy on his stand for private ownership of the satellite system insofar as it applies to communications and in that he seems to be justified.

Regarding this, Ellender said: "... Look at the communications satellite bill which our president has endorsed. If he did not believe in free enterprise, here he would have been given a golden opportunity to extend another tentacle of government control into the communications industry. But he chose not to do so and, instead, is attempting to give American business a strong voice in the development of outer space. I am supporting his attempt, for I think it is the best interest of the country."

Ellender also mentioned the 1962 foreign trade bill, which is before the senate finance committee, as another case in point, stating that it is a Kennedy measure which has gained wide support in every area of government, business, labor and agriculture.

It seems safe to state that President Kennedy's stand on the communications satellite bill is commendable. While it is true that the measure proposes to place considerable control in the hands of the government, it is also true that it proposes a large measure of direction by private industry, which will contribute to the financing. Recognition of the rights of private industry in this vast field of space communications is so vitally important that any step in that direction is laudable. When the satellite communications system has been developed enough so that it will return a profit and so that private industry is capable of taking it over and handling it, it would seem wise to transfer all ownership to private individuals or corporations, with the government having only the same type of supervision that it now exercises over "earth-bound" communications.

The foreign trade bill, in its present form, seems too complicated for the average individual to be able either to condemn it or approve it and the final version must be drawn before its merits can be fully realized. One thing that most citizens want to be assured of is that the trade bill will not deprive the United States of its sovereignty, its independence and its right to make its own decisions. That, too, probably is the aim of congress.

Ellender says he receives a large amount of mail from constituents who apparently want him to oppose whatever moves the administration advances. This is not an unnatural attitude, inasmuch as the president has advocated so many socialistic and power-grabbing measures that there are many who believe anything he advocates is dangerous to this country's well-being and freedom internally. Ellender says, "Mr. Kennedy is no flaming Socialist trying to lead the country down a road of ruin that will end in the destruction of our free enterprise economic system."

If President Kennedy's action had not led a large percentage of the population to believe that that is just what he is and just what he is trying to do there would be no need for Senator Ellender to make a denial. The fact that so many people do believe that shows that some danger does exist.

Ellender asserts that blind opposition to anything the president proposes "is more in keeping with the attitude of my Republican friends who sit across the aisle" than in accord with good, common sense.

Since President Kennedy has advocated so many dangerously socialistic bills, such as the farm confiscation program, in which farmers' property could have been declared non-essential for agricultural purposes and the medicare bill, under which every person who pays social security would have had a greatly increased burden to bear, with no observable benefit to those who are really needy, it behooves congress to watch his bills closely.

Every measure which he sponsors should be scrutinized closely to see whether it has any merit and to determine whether there are any concealed dangers to our free enterprise system.

We agree that each bill should be considered on its merits but we also hold that anything offered by the radical elements President Kennedy has placed in our government should be studied with the utmost care, that all danger should be eliminated and only that which helps our country and which maintains the free enterprise system should be adopted. As in the case of all legislation, the congressman who does not have time to inform himself on proposed bills should abstain from voting or, as a last resort, should vote against anything on which he is uninformed. It is better to pass no new laws than to pass those which might be dangerous.

Taxes And Growth

Although some across-the-board tax reductions are scheduled to be enacted in the present session of congress, just what these cuts will amount to is not yet known.

Several years ago it became evident to a couple of congressmen that income tax rate reform was necessary if the United States was to maintain a high economic growth. These congressmen, A. S. Herlong, Jr., D., Fla., and Howard H. Baker, R., Tenn., introduced the Herlong-Baker bills.

To meet the demands for a start on income rate reform that can be handled quickly by congress, Representatives Herlong and Baker have introduced a simplified version of their original proposal. It would carry out their original idea of five years of step-by-step lowering of personal and corporate tax rates but would not, in one bill, adjust gift and estate and capital gains taxes or depreciation treatment. Eventually it would do away with the most confiscatory taxes on profitable businesses and industries.

This new Herlong-Baker bill would give everyone at least a 25 per cent reduction in his personal income taxes over five years and top tax rates on individuals and corporations would be reduced in the same period to 42 per cent.

There is every reason to believe that no individual and no business or corporation should be taxed more than 42 per cent of his total net income. The present maximum rate of 91 per cent stifles initiative in business and denies to the individual the right to just rewards as contemplated by our founding fathers.

Baker and Herlong believe their approach to tax rate reform would protect and benefit the government. They believe the surge of economic growth that would occur during the five-year reduction period would wipe out part of the paper loss quickly and all of it eventually. Surely this is true, for it is difficult to believe that the government profits by imposing taxes to the point of suppression.

Chandler Likes Republican

'Happy' Gives Indications Of Supporting Thurston B. Morton Against Fellow Democrat's Candidacy

Former Governor "Happy" Chandler, irrepressible political warlock and turbulent controversial one-time baseball commissioner, is again bent on electing a Republican senator from Kentucky.

Although a lifelong Democrat, Chandler is feuding bitterly with Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt, the party's senatorial nominee, and is giving every indication of planning to covertly back his incumbent Republican opponent — Senator Thurston B. Morton, former national chairman.

This will be a repetition of what happened six years ago, when Morton owed his election largely to Chandler's undercover support. That year, President Eisenhower swept Kentucky by more than 95,000 and Senator John Sherman Cooper, Republican candidate for the unexpired term of the late Senator Alben Barkley, won by upwards of 65,000. Morton barely squeaked through by some 8,500 — thanks to Chandler's warring against incumbent Democratic Senator Earle Clements.

"Happy" is not the sashaying ruler of the state house this time. But he is already busily running for another term as governor next year, with pretty good prospects. Governors cannot succeed themselves in Kentucky. Chandler has held the office twice, and is after a third term.

So although not in the saddle and able to sway the regular Democratic organization as he did in 1956, "Happy" still can exert considerable influence, particularly in "county courthouse" circles where he has long been strong.

That's what Morton is hopefully counting on — to offset the lack of having the coat-tails of a highly popular Republican president and an equally popular senatorial colleague to run on.

However, both Eisenhower and Cooper will actively campaign for Morton. They have promised to do that, and he is banking heavily on this to make up the difference.

A TOUGH RACE — But, privately, neither Morton nor Republican campaign strategists are kidding themselves about his prospects. They are fully aware he has an uphill battle. In some respects Morton's re-election chances are the most uncertain of the 18 Republican Senate seats at stake this year.

However, he and GOP leaders optimistically feel three important factors are operating in his favor.

(1) Chandler's active enmity to Wyatt, (2) the uncertain business conditions, and (3) the Democrats' stunning upset in Louisville last year when they lost the mayorality for the first time in 30 years to William Cowger, dynamic young Republican.

Louisville is Morton's home town. He represented that district three terms in the House before going to the Senate.

Wyatt also is from Louisville, having been mayor from 1941 to 1945. As Lieutenant Governor, he has the full backing of Governor Bert Combs, long-time Chandler foe, and the regular party organization.

Also, Wyatt is a more forceful campaigner than Morton, particularly in the rural sections. Morton appears stand-offish and uncomfortable in these areas.

Another factor the Democrats are making a lot of is the wide divergence between Morton and Cooper on key issues, such as medical care for the aged under social security. The two Republican senators split squarely on that.

Cooper was one of the five Republicans who backed this legislation. Morton sponsored several of the proposals to scuttle it.

President Kennedy, Vice President Johnson and other party chiefs will campaign for Wyatt. Under present plans, the president will speak in Louisville, and Johnson and others will electioneer in other key sections of the state.

Democratic national committee leaders are advising Wyatt to ignore Chandler, and not get involved in a personal row with him. They are urging Wyatt to concentrate on Morton, and to challenge him to a radio-TV debate. They are confident Wyatt would best Morton in such an encounter.

Democratic insiders also are known to have "suggested" that the White House offer Chandler a special mission abroad to get him out of Kentucky during the fall campaign.

There is no indication this will be done, or he would take it if it's offered.

Former Senator Earle Clements, who surprisingly patched up his once-torrid vendetta with Chandler to futilely oppose Wyatt's senatorial nomination last spring, is apparently no longer fighting him. Clements, 55,000-a-year Washington representative of the American Merchant Marine Institute, faces trial on income tax charges in the fall.

Whether it takes place, remains to be seen.

POLITICALS — Clark Clifford, White House counsel to President Truman and one of President Kennedy's early advisors, played a key backstage role in General Electric's $7.5 million settlement of the government's claim for price-fixing damages. Clifford represented the giant corporation as "legal consultant." GE officials emphatically deny he was paid a fee "in excess of $100,000." Mark Raskin, 27-year-old aide to McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the president on foreign affairs, has been quietly shifted to the Budget Bureau. He is the latest youthful New Frontiersman who has been eased out of the White House.

Labor leaders want the president to name a union official to one of the two Atomic Energy Commission vacancies. The unionists' choice is Leo Goodman, secretary of the Atomic Energy Technical Committee of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department. No laborite has ever been named to the AEC. Senator Jennings Randolph, D., W. Va., who cast the crucial vote against the administration's medicare bill, is unconcerned about any White House retaliation. Says Randolph, "I helped the president carry my state in 1960. I was elected by 88,000, and he won in the state by only 45,000. He has to run again in 1964, while I'm not up for election until 1966. I would say the president will need me in West Virginia more than I need him."

Eggheads' Advice

Kennedy Looking To Professors For His Military Policies

Since the Kennedy Administration took office, 108,700 people have been added to the Federal civilian payroll, bringing the figure up to 2,461,540. Despite all of this new help, President Kennedy and his Cabinet are relying more and more on "independent contractors" to do their thinking. Already, the Pentagon has relieved the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the military from the important work of evaluating new weapons systems, turning this assignment over to a group of professors who may be good with a slide rule but do not know one end of a gun from the other. (I will come back to this in a future column.)

At the same time, the State Department, which has grown so fast that its new building has already overflowed, is counting on the academic community to prepare reports on such matters as guerrilla tactics. The cost of these reports comes out of the taxpayer's pocket is bad enough. But even worse is the nature of the reports. The community is feeling the policy makers. One such report came in the attention of Representative Frank T. Row of Ohio, a member of the House Appropriations Committee. It had been written by a Doctor of Philosophy not in the government service. The cost to the State Department: $7,000 — not much when measured against the Federal budget but still a neat sum.

Roger Hilsman, chief of the department's Intelligence and Research Service, admitted that this — and other similar reports — were read by the President and his top advisers. He also admitted that the report was "invalid," but defended its use. Here is part of the exchange between Congressman Row and Mr. Hilsman: "Hilsman: The point I would make here was that there is some utility in having a person write a document that is not fully cleared and does not have to go through the whole clearance process. Of course, some of the statements you have read are not completely valid. On the other hand, there may be a half-truth here or a partial truth which will make people sit up and think."

"Bow: If I am sitting down in the State Department and this is given to me as a research study from the Bureau of Intelligence and Research, I should think that I would have the right to believe this is not half truth or partial truth and be able to rely on it. Is our foreign policy made on reports with half-truths or partial truths? This is pretty dangerous."

"Hilsman: It should make you think and it should have some findings that are useful."

"Bow: Do you mean to tell me that in order to get people in the State Department to think, we should have to feed them half-truths? I do not agree with that. I would hope they are much more intelligent than that down there."

This method of making people think by offering them misinformation may have been a good stunt when Mr. Hilsman was a student at Yale or took his graduate studies at Princeton's Institute of Advanced Studies. This may be a new pedagogical method developed by the Institute's head, J. Robert Oppenheimer — a man who lost his security clearance for, among other reasons, telling U. S. security agents when he was head of the Los Alamos atomic project what he later termed a "cock and bull story."

Deformed Babies

Heartbreaking Stories Dramatize Importance Of Protection

The heartbreaking stories of the deformed babies born to mothers throughout the world who took the German-developed drug thalidomide before it was withdrawn from the market a few months ago dramatize the importance of protecting you, the U. S. consumer, from the general marketing of new drugs until they have been thoroughly and objectively tested for safety as well as effectiveness.

It also underlines the kind of contribution the 12-member Consumers' Advisory Council just appointed by President Kennedy to advise the White House on issues of direct concern to the American consumer could make to your health and safety. For there is no disputing that while many of the thousands of new drugs created in this era are saving countless lives, some also present great hazards to our health. There is no disputing either the need to strengthen our existing food, drug and cosmetic laws and their enforcement to reduce the threats to us. It is in the area of educating the American consumer on this that the new CAC could make a significant contribution to the entire nation.

No doubt you know the tale of thalidomide by now and know that it would have been in wide use in the U. S. had not Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey of the Food and Drug Administration dragged her feet for 19 months on approval of an Ohio drug manufacturer's application to market the drug for general consumption because she was not convinced it was safe. Now the world knows about the sedative's dreadful side effects and although over 1,100 U. S. physicians did distribute samples to their patients, the tragedies in our country are nowhere near those taking place overseas.

Outside of helping to educate consumers — and lawmakers — on laws to increase the protection and safety of the U. S. public in such fields as foods and drugs, what else might the CAC achieve? Its official functions — advising the Executive Branch of Government on issues of broad economic policy and programs to protect and inform the consumer — are so broad that they could be meaningless unless translated into specific areas of action. Specifically what?

From Senator Hubert Humphrey ("Dem - Minn") comes the plea that the CAC help give the consumer a voice before Congressional committees which must vote funds for the Federal regulatory agencies. Says Humphrey, "The only voices we usually hear are those complaining an agency has been too harsh or unfair in enforcing the law. We need a voice speaking for enforcing the law in the interests of the consumer."

From Dr. Helen G. Canoyer, dean of Cornell University's School of Home Economics and chairman of the new CAC, comes the statement that the council can achieve much by directing "attention to consumer education, especially to consumer economics" — and this means "teaching basic economic principles, not just feeding out information on how to take care of clothes or how to read labels."

From Dr. Colston E. Warner, economics professor at Amherst College, president of Consumers Union and another council member, comes the proposal that the CAC should lead a drive for compilation of all the methods of testing consumer goods available the world over. The compilation, he says, will reveal "great gaps and serious weaknesses" which will stimulate programs to improve testing methods to protect and guide us.

Kennedy And Satellite

Some praise for and some criticism of President Kennedy is given by Senator Allen Ellender, D., La. One item on which he accords him praise is that of the communications satellite bill, which has drawn a vigorous attack by the extreme advocates of government ownership. Ellender has lauded Kennedy for his stand for private ownership of the satellite system insofar as it applies to communications and in that he seems to be justified.

Regarding this, Ellender said: "... Look at the communications satellite bill which our president has endorsed. If he did not believe in free enterprise, here he would have been given a golden opportunity to extend another tentacle of government control into the communications industry. But he chose not to do so and, instead, is attempting to give American business a strong voice in the development of outer space. I am supporting his attempt, for I think it is the best interest of the country."

Ellender also mentioned the 1962 foreign trade bill, which is before the senate finance committee, as another case in point, stating that it is a Kennedy measure which has gained wide support in every area of government, business, labor and agriculture.

It seems safe to state that President Kennedy's stand on the communications satellite bill is commendable. While it is true that the measure proposes to place considerable control in the hands of the government, it is also true that it proposes a large measure of direction by private industry, which will contribute to the financing. Recognition of the rights of private industry in this vast field of space communications is so vitally important that any step in that direction is laudable. When the satellite communications system has been developed enough so that it will return a profit and so that private industry is capable of taking it over and handling it, it would seem wise to transfer all ownership to private individuals or corporations, with the government having only the same type of supervision that it now exercises over "earth-bound" communications.

The foreign trade bill, in its present form, seems too complicated for the average individual to be able either to condemn it or approve it and the final version must be drawn before its merits can be fully realized. One thing that most citizens want to be assured of is that the trade bill will not deprive the United States of its sovereignty, its independence and its right to make its own decisions. That, too, probably is the aim of congress.

Ellender says he receives a large amount of mail from constituents who apparently want him to oppose whatever moves the administration advances. This is not an unnatural attitude, inasmuch as the president has advocated so many socialistic and power-grabbing measures that there are many who believe anything he advocates is dangerous to this country's well-being and freedom internally. Ellender says, "Mr. Kennedy is no flaming Socialist trying to lead the country down a road of ruin that will end in the destruction of our free enterprise economic system."

If President Kennedy's action had not led a large percentage of the population to believe that that is just what he is and just what he is trying to do there would be no need for Senator Ellender to make a denial. The fact that so many people do believe that shows that some danger does exist.

Ellender asserts that blind opposition to anything the president proposes "is more in keeping with the attitude of my Republican friends who sit across the aisle" than in accord with good, common sense.

Since President Kennedy has advocated so many dangerously socialistic bills, such as the farm confiscation program, in which farmers' property could have been declared non-essential for agriculture and condemned for recreation purposes, and the medicare bill, under which every person who pays social security would have had a greatly increased burden to bear, with no observable benefit to those who are really needy, it behooves congress to watch his bills closely.

Every measure which he sponsors should be scrutinized closely to see whether it has any merit and to determine whether there are any concealed dangers to our free enterprise system.

We agree that each bill should be considered on its merits but we also hold that anything offered by the radical elements President Kennedy has placed in our government should be studied with the utmost care, that all danger should be eliminated and only that which helps our country and which maintains the free enterprise system should be adopted. As in the case of all legislation, the congressman who does not have time to inform himself on proposed bills should abstain from voting or, as a last resort, should vote against anything on which he is uninformed. It is better to pass no new laws than to pass those which might be dangerous.

Taxes And Growth

Although some across-the-board tax reductions are scheduled to be enacted in the present session of congress, just what these cuts will amount to is not yet known.

Several years ago it became evident to a couple of congressmen that income tax rate reform was necessary if the United States was to maintain a high economic growth. These congressmen, A. S. Herlong, Jr., D., Fla., and Howard H. Baker, R., Tenn., introduced the Herlong-Baker bills.

To meet the demands for a start on income rate reform that can be handled quickly by congress, Representatives Herlong and Baker have introduced a simplified version of their original proposal. It would carry out their original idea of five years of step-by-step lowering of personal and corporate tax rates but would not, in one bill, adjust gift and estate and capital gains taxes or depreciation treatment. Eventually it would do away with the most confiscatory taxes on profitable businesses and industries.

This new Herlong-Baker bill would give everyone at least a 25 per cent reduction in his personal income taxes over five years and top tax rates on individuals and corporations would be reduced in the same period to 42 per cent.

There is every reason to believe that no individual and no business or corporation should be taxed more than 42 per cent of his total net income. The present maximum rate of 91 per cent stifles initiative in business and denies to the individual the right to just rewards as contemplated by our founding fathers.

Baker and Herlong believe their approach to tax rate reform would protect and benefit the government. They believe the surge of economic growth that would occur during the five-year reduction period would wipe out part of the paper loss quickly and all of it eventually. Surely this is true, for it is difficult to believe that the government profits by imposing taxes to the point of suppression.

Chandler Likes Republican

'Happy' Gives Indications Of Supporting Thurston B. Morton Against Fellow Democrat's Candidacy

Former Governor "Happy" Chandler, irrepressible political warlock and turbulent controversial one-time baseball commissioner, is again bent on electing a Republican senator from Kentucky.

Although a lifelong Democrat, Chandler is feuding bitterly with Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt, the party's senatorial nominee, and is giving every indication of planning to covertly back his incumbent Republican opponent — Senator Thurston B. Morton, former national chairman.

This will be a repetition of what happened six years ago, when Morton owed his election largely to Chandler's undercover support.

That year, President Eisenhower swept Kentucky by more than 95,000 and Senator John Sherman Cooper, Republican candidate for the unexpired term of the late Senator Alben Barkley, won by upwards of 65,000. But the business of government and the problem of keeping this nation safe cannot be handled by people who are playing this kind of game. Will the State Department tell us next year that our disastrous Congo policy was adopted on the basis of a policy report whose half-truths were designed to make the officials in its African section think? Was the fiasco in Cuba the result of "information" whose function was not to inform but to stimulate the brain cells?

BRITISH WOMAN DIES

Warning Is Issued On Contraceptives

By PATRICK J. MASSEY
LONDON (AP)—British medical authorities, still troubled over thalidomide, issued a warning Friday about the use of an oral contraceptive pill.

The British Medical Journal reported four women in Britain developed thrombosis after taking the pill called Conovid and one of them died.

The article said similar cases have come to light in the United States.

Though stressing that evidence linking the illness with the pill is at present circumstantial, the journal, organ of the British Medical Association said:

"Previous thromboembolic disease in pregnancy should be regarded as contraindicating the administration of Conovid for contraceptive purposes."

Contraindication is the medical term for an indication that some method of treatment is inadvisable if alternatives exist.

Without quoting sources, the journal article said:

"In America there have been apparently a number of examples of women on Enovid—another form—developing thromboembolic complications, some of them fatal."

"We have been informed that these cases were reviewed recently at a private conference in the U.S.A. where it was concluded that oral contraception involved no more risk of thromboembolism than normal pregnancy."

"However, the risk is greater in pregnancy than at other times and it must be asked whether even this risk should be run just for contraception."

A journal spokesman said the information came from "what we believe to be a very reliable source" but declined to elaborate.

The U.S. situation was discussed in an article in the American Medical Association journal last month.

More than 39,000 persons flew from Monroe Selman Field last year, a Trans-Texas Airways vice president told members of the local Kiwanis Club and Chamber of Commerce.

Max King, the Trans-Texas official, said more than 60 per cent of the Monroe air passengers were headed for less than 11 key cities.

"This means that Monroe's air travel community of interest has been readily established in less than two decades," he pointed out. "This affords the Monroe Chamber of Commerce aviation committee a full opportunity to work towards better service to these 'key' points of travel."

Helicopter flights will supplement airline flights for Monroe in the future, King predicted, and said Monroe might also expect "short-haul jets which would fly at speeds of 550 miles per hour, with passenger loads of more than 50 seats."

NACHEZ, Miss. (Special) — Gov. Ross Barnett today is scheduled to participate in a ceremony welcoming members of the 367th Ordnance Company from a tour of active duty with the Army.

The 367th is one of the first units from Mississippi called to active duty last October to return from their Army assignments.

The unit was ordered into federal service Oct. 1, 1961.

Orr Is Tech's Nuclear Energy Board Member

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's member of the board by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis will be Dr. Virgil Orr, head of the department of engineering research and a professor of chemical engineering, it was announced here.

Creation of the nuclear energy board is part of an act passed recently by the state legislature. The act allows the state to assume many of the responsibilities with respect to nuclear energy and nuclear devices now under the jurisdiction of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

In addition to the director and coordinator, personnel of the new nuclear energy board consists of two representatives of the medical profession and one member from each of the following:

The state senate, the state house of representatives, Louisiana State University, the private universities and colleges of the state, the petroleum industry, the agricultural industry and the colleges under supervision of the State Board of Education.

Delay On Estes Report Rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt said Friday the Agriculture Department waited to be asked before it sent the Justice Department a report on farmers who admitted they were violating the law in dealing with Billie Sol Estes.

The South Dakota Republican said the Agriculture Department's action short-circuited prosecution against farmers who knew they were, in effect, selling cotton allotments to Estes illegally.

Mundt's charge came as William H. Duggan, director of the investigation division for the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service testified before the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Duggan said his division's Dallas office compiled a full report on the cotton allotment issue and it was circulated in Washington Nov. 3.

But Mundt said the Justice Department never got a copy of the report until April 12th, and then only after it had requested it.

The report contained "a confession of violating the law" by some farmers, Mundt said. Duggan said he did not recall that anyone in the Agriculture Department recommended that it be sent to the Justice Department for possible criminal action.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said he thought it would be virtually impossible to get a conviction in a criminal court.

A lawyer, Ervin said cancellation of cotton allotments is a civil proceeding, pursued in court quite differently from a criminal prosecution. An individual accused in a criminal case must be shown to have criminal intent, which must be proved to a jury beyond a reasonable doubt, he said.

Ervin said it is virtually impossible to get a conviction if a defendant says he was relying on the advice of his attorney. Estes could say he was relying on the advice of Texas officials, Ervin said.

The Agriculture Department, Ervin said would be foolish to attempt more than merely a cancellation of Estes' cotton allotments.

Registration Set

At Two Schools

Ouachita Parish Junior High and Ouachita Elementary School, located on South Grand Street, will be open for registration during the month of August, it has been announced.

The two schools are composed of grades one through eight. Registration hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday children entering the first grade should bring birth certificates and be six years old on or before the last day of December.

Transportation will be furnished those students living within the city limits of Monroe.

To The Voters of Ward 3

Thank you for electing me to the O.P.S. Board. I appreciate your confidence in me and will endeavor to justify it in my efforts to raise the standards of quality throughout the parish system.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

A Union staff officer rode up to Maj. Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks on August 9, 1862 and delivered a verbal order.

The order was complicated. To make sure he had it right, Banks ordered it written down.

It read:

"General Banks to move to the front immediately, assume command of all forces in the front, deploy his skirmishers if the enemy advances, and attack him immediately as he approaches, and be reinforced from here."

The order came from Maj. Gen. John Pope, commander of the new Union Army of Virginia.

The order came to Banks near Culpeper, Va., a small town just east of the Blue Ridge Mountains and about 35 miles southwest of Manassas Junction. Banks, a political general who was brave and aggressive but unskilled in warfare, led the advance forces of Pope's army — about 8,000 men — which was demonstrating toward the Confederate communications lines while the Army of the Potomac was being moved from near Richmond, Va., back to the northern Virginia area.

Banks was opposed by Maj. Gen. Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson with about 16,000 men. Jackson apparently sensed in Banks' southern movement a chance to duplicate his earlier successes in the Shenandoah Valley against Banks — to strike him quickly, rout him and then turn on the other parts of Pope's army which was strung out for miles north of Culpeper.

Jackson's men had won the name of "foot cavalry" in the Valley because they marched as fast as horsemen but on Aug. 7 and 8 they moved at a slow walk, their march snarled by wagon trains and criss-crossing units.

So it was 4 p.m. on Aug. 9 before Jackson was lined up near Cedar Mountain, about seven miles south of Culpeper, ready to attack. Preliminary skirmishing along the lines had failed to develop the strength of either side.

But Banks, instead of Jackson, attacked first in force. The blue-coats hit the left side of the Confederate line, enveloped it and rolled it back in a spirited drive. Some of the Rebel units broke in panic, including part of the famous Stonewall brigade.

At this point in the battle Jackson appeared to be beaten — a new experience for him. But some of A. P. Hill's Light Division was entering the field and "Old Jack" pressed them into service.

He personally sent Brig. Gen. Lawrence O'Bryan Branch's brigade into action.

Branch wrote in his journal four days later:

"General Jackson came to me and told me his left was beaten and broken, and the enemy was turning him and he wished me to advance. I was already in line of battle and instantly gave the order. 'Forward march,' I had not gone 100 yards before we met the celebrated Stonewall Brigade utterly routed and fleeing as fast as they could run. (Actually it was a regiment rather than a brigade fleeing.)

"After proceeding a short distance further we met the enemy pursuing. My brigade opened upon them and quickly drove the enemy back.

On the other side Union Brig. Gen. Samuel W. Crawford reported:

"Onward these (Union) regiments charged, driving the enemy's infantry back through the wood beyond. . . But the reserves of the enemy were at once brought up and thrown upon the broken ranks. . . the support I looked for did not arrive, and my gallant men, broken, decimated by that fearful fire, that unequal contest, fell back again.

The battle went on far into the night under a full moon but neither side gained further advantage. The next day found the armies facing each other without action. Banks had been reinforced overnight but seemed willing to let events rest where they were. Jackson, too, was content to remain on the battlefield and glean it for small arms.

"God blessed our arms with victory," Jackson messaged to Lee.

Banks sent the same sort of victory message to Washington.

Actually Jackson had won a victory of sorts but had fumbled a big one when he had a 2 to 1 advantage over Banks.

On the night of Aug. 11-12, he retreated south behind the Rapidan river, attempting to lure Banks into another vulnerable position but Banks ignored the bait.

Union casualties were heavy in relation to the number engaged. Killed numbered 314; wounded 1,445; missing 594 (400 of them prisoners); total 2,353.

Confederate casualties: killed 231; wounded 1,107; total 1,338. Banks' losses were almost 30 per cent of 8,000 engaged, Jackson's only about 8 per cent.

But buried in the cold casualty figures were two battle deaths which symbolized the way Civil War soldiers died.

Among the Confederate dead was a promising lieutenant of Jackson's, Brig. Gen. Charles Sidney Winder, 32, Marylander and West Pointer who had shown much military ability in the Shenandoah Valley.

Winder was ill the day of Cedar Mountain, but left his ambulance to go to the front to lead Jackson's old command.

While he was directing his artillery a Federal shell sheared off his left arm and mangled his left side.

In keeping with the custom of the times which required that a fatally wounded man must be told that he would die, a chaplain spoke to Winder:

"General," he said, "Lift up your head to God."

"I do," Winder replied, "I do lift it up to Him."

A young staff officer went to the rear with Winder.

He asked him how the battle was going. The officer, McHenry Howard, reported, "and seemed gratified by my reply."

and at sundown, with my arm around his neck and supporting his head, he expired, so quietly that I could scarcely mark the exact time of his death."

Both Lee and Jackson mourned Winder's death, and wrote eulogies into their reports.

But across the way in a Union camp another officer died without benefit of dispatches.

He was the youngest lieutenant of the 1st New Jersey Cavalry, Alanson Austin. He was hit by an artillery shell and one leg almost severed at the thigh.

"Oh, chaplain, if I could only pray," the youngster told Chaplain Henry R. Pyne, as he lay on a stretcher ready for amputation.

As the chaplain prayed with him, Austin's leg was removed with Confederate shells hitting the fence behind which the surgeons worked.

"As his life ebbed away," Pyne wrote, "his mind wandered. He feebly waved his arm, and gave some orders, as if still on the field."

"Then, with a half-articulate cry of the Star Spangled Banner," his voice was hushed in death."

Only two coins were minted by the Confederate government during the Civil War and these in small quantities. One was a half dollar, made from U. S. coins shaved and restruck. A few cent pieces were struck but neither coin ever was in general circulation.

The president, on recommendation of the Department Board, said Stonewall and Brooks were found to be a menace to security of the country.

Macapagal said Stonewall and Brooks will be deported to the United States. State Department officials in Washington said Stonewall was free to enter the United States if he wanted to.

Both Americans were found guilty after a trial lasting five months — of corrupting public officials, violating Philippine banking laws, engaging in economic sabotage and tax evasion.

Two of Stonewall's associates, John Brooks, an American, and Karl Beck, a German, were ordered placed on probation for two years.

Macapagal also decreed that tax and other liabilities of the four businessmen to the Philippine government "shall continue to be due from them and shall be enforced against their property."

Stonewall, 45, is an ex-GI from Chicago who took his discharge from the U. S. Army in the Philippines 15 years ago. Heavy-set and sandy haired, he is married to a Philippine citizen. Deportation does not affect her.

The Stonewall case rocked the Philippines for five months.

Removal of two Cabinet members — two of Macapagal's closest and trusted associates — showed the president determined to push through his war against graft and corruption relentlessly.

"Homicide is never an act of good will," the radio said. "Love always chooses life, not death."

"Every human being, from the first instant of conception, possesses all the rights that belong to any human person. Nothing justifies direct, voluntary suppression — not even the goal of saving the life of the mother."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Sherri Finkbine and her husband have canceled a reservation for a flight to Sweden and are thinking of going to Japan for her planned abortion, an airline said today.

Scandinavian Airlines, which had the couple booked on an 11:30 a.m. flight to Stockholm, said Phoenix teacher Robert Finkbine telephoned the message to its airport office.

Mrs. Finkbine, a pretty television performer and mother of four, fears her expected child might be born with a deformation blamed on a drug.

The airline said Finkbine phoned from nearby Beverly Hills, where they apparently are visiting friends. The airline said it received a previous call from Finkbine, around 9:30 a.m., saying he was 40 minutes from the airport but undecided whether to make the flight to Sweden because the couple doesn't want to meet with reporters and photographers.

Abortions are legal in both Sweden and Japan. They are not legal in Arizona, except to save the mother's life.

Mrs. Finkbine's fears result from a drug, thalidomide, she says she took to placate nausea during the early stages of her pregnancy. The drug since has been blamed for deformities in babies born in Europe, Australia and Canada.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

IRRITATED MOLES

How dangerous are moles? Not very, considering the billions adorning people throughout the world and the relatively small percentage that become malignant. One skin specialist saw only five cancers originating in these growths during 35 years of active practice.

On the other hand, the lesions are potentially dangerous when irritated by shaving, picking or rubbing by a collar or bra. The result may be a malignant melanoma (cancerous mole), a rapidly growing tumor. Furthermore the situation is hopeless once this cancer spreads.

Itching is the first sign of something amiss. The mole throws off a slight secretion, darkens in color, or increases in size. Blush or slate colored lesions are particularly vicious even tho they are smooth and look innocent. Ulceration and bleeding offer more decisive clues. Most authorities view any of these changes with suspicion and advise removal.

But removal must be complete. An inadequate or unskilled job may be more disastrous than letting the mole alone. Avoid the application of agents such as nitric acid because they serve as irritants and stimulate growth instead of killing the cells. The same can be said of the improper use of the cautery.

The safest method of removal is with a scalpel or an electro-surgical knife. The incision extends well beyond the borders of the growth.

Moles are made up of embryonic cells that contain melanin, a brownish pigment. The majority are visible at birth altho the dot may be so tiny as to escape notice. But the lesion gets larger as the child grows and, after a few years, tends to remain stationary.

ACHING AFTER EATING
J. I. writes: Would you have any idea why my 7 year old son gets a stomach ache after eating? He has to lie down for 10 minutes after each meal. Our doctor can find nothing wrong.

REPLY
If X-rays show no abnormality of the stomach or intestines, emotional factors may be responsible. Allow the boy to relax for 10 minutes after each meal and don't show your concern.

KIDNEY FUNCTION
M.N.P. writes: (1) What is a kidney function problem? (2) Is it less serious than kidney disease?

REPLY
(1) The function of the kidneys is disturbed when the organ is diseased or under strain from other bodily ailments. (2) In this respect, the disease is less important than what it is doing to the kidneys.

TYPES OF HEADACHE
W. S. writes: Are sinus and migraine headaches something alike?

REPLY
Yes, but they have entirely different origins and are easy to tell apart for this reason. Send stamped, self addressed envelope for leaflets on migraine and sinus disorders.

SLOW STOMACH
T. D. writes: Can anything be done to speed up a stomach that is slow to empty?

REPLY
Eat smaller amounts of food more frequently during the day. But worry so long as the stomach otherwise is normal?

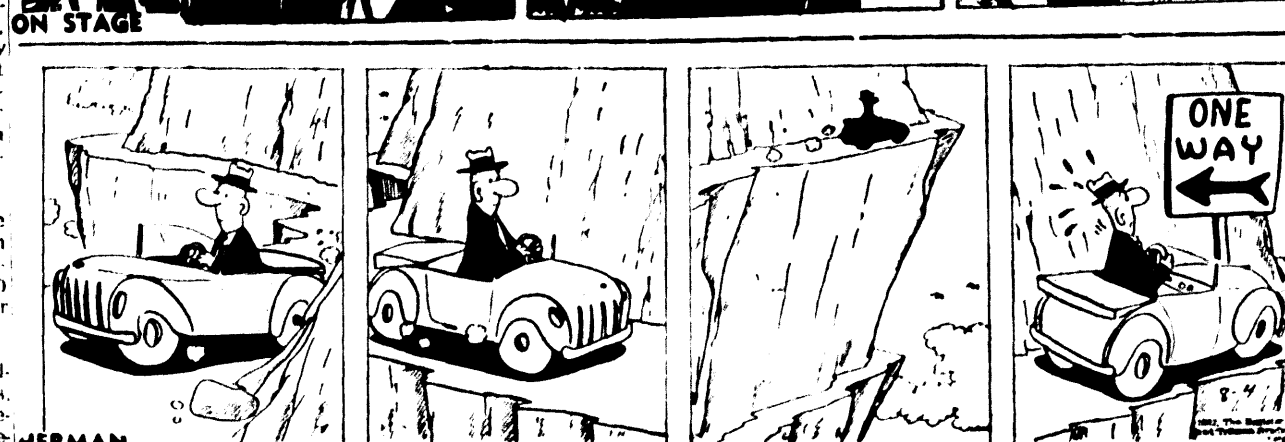

TRAVEL PUFFINESS
M. B. writes: If the legs tend to swell on long plane and train trips, would it be a good idea to wear elasticized hose?

REPLY
This will help but puffiness can be minimized by standing up and walking about periodically.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—

Deportation Ordered For 2 Americans

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Diosdado Macapagal on Friday ordered immediate deportation of American multimillionaire businessman Harry Stonehill and his associate Robert Brooks, also an American, as undesirable aliens.

But there was doubt Stonehill could be deported at once since the House of Representatives claims custody. Stonehill has been cited for contempt by a House committee for his refusal to answer questions on alleged payroll listings of about 100 government personnel.

The sergeant-at-arms said he would not surrender Stonehill to deportation authorities, even with presidential orders. He said he would release Stonehill only on orders of the House speaker or committee chairman.

The president, on recommendation of the Deportation Board, said Stonehill and Brooks were found to be a menace to security of the country.

Macapagal said Stonehill and Brooks will be deported to the United States. State Department officials in Washington said Stonehill was free to enter the United States if he wanted to.

The airline said it received a previous call from Finkbine, around 9:30 a.m., saying he was 40 minutes from the airport but undecided whether to make the flight to Sweden because the couple doesn't want to meet with reporters and photographers.

Abortions are legal in both Sweden and Japan. They are not legal in Arizona, except to save the mother's life.

Mrs. Finkbine's fears result from a drug, thalidomide, she says she took to placate nausea during the early stages of her pregnancy. The drug since has been blamed for deformities in babies born in Europe, Australia and Canada.

Sweden Flight Cancelled By Sherri Finkbine

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Sherri Finkbine and her husband have canceled a reservation for a flight to Sweden and are thinking of going to Japan for her planned abortion, an airline said today.

Scandinavian Airlines, which had the couple booked on an 11:30 a.m. flight to Stockholm, said Phoenix teacher Robert Finkbine telephoned the message to its airport office.

Mrs. Finkbine, a pretty television performer and mother of four, fears her expected child might be born with a deformation blamed on a drug.

IRRITATED MOLES

How dangerous are moles? Not very, considering the billions of people who have them and the relatively small percentage that become malignant. One skin specialist saw only five cancers originating in these growths during 35 years of active practice.

On the other hand, the lesions are potentially dangerous when irritated by shaving, picking or rubbing with a collar or bra. The result may be a malignant melanoma (cancerous mole), a rapidly growing tumor. Furthermore the situation is hopeless once this cancer spreads.

Itching is the first sign of something amiss. The mole throws off a slight secretion, darkens in color, or increases in size. Bluish or slate colored lesions are particularly vicious even tho they are smooth and look innocent. Ulceration and bleeding offer more decisive clues. Most authorities view any of these changes with suspicion and advise removal.

But removal must be complete. An inadequate or unskilled job may be more disastrous than letting the mole alone. Avoid the application of agents such as nitric acid because they serve as irritants and stimulate growth instead of killing the cells. The same can be said of the improper use of the cautery.

The safest method of removal is with a scalpel or an electro-surgical knife. The incision extends well beyond the borders of the growth.

Moles are made up of embryonic cells that contain melanin, a brownish pigment. The majority are visible at birth altho the dot may be so tiny as to escape notice. But the lesion gets larger as the child grows and, after a few years, tends to remain stationary.

ACHING AFTER EATING

J. I. writes: Would you have any idea why my 7 year old son gets a stomach ache after eating? He has to lie down for 10 minutes after each meal. Our doctor can find nothing wrong.

REPLY

If X-rays show no abnormality of the stomach or intestines, emotional factors may be responsible. Allow the boy to relax for 10 minutes after each meal and don't show your concern.

KIDNEY FUNCTION

M.N.P. writes: (1) What is a kidney function problem? (2) Is it less serious than kidney disease?

REPLY

(1) The function of the kidneys is disturbed when the organ is diseased or under strain from other bodily ailments. (2) In this respect, the disease is less important than what it is doing to the kidneys.

TYPES OF HEADACHE

W. S. writes: Are sinus and migraine headaches something alike?

REPLY

Yes, but they have entirely different origins and are easy to tell apart for this reason. Send stamped, self addressed envelope for leaflets on migraine and sinus disorders.

SLOW STOMACH

T. D. writes: Can anything be done to speed up a stomach that is slow to empty?

REPLY

Eat smaller amounts of food more frequently during the day. But why worry so long as the stomach otherwise is normal?

TRAVEL PUFFINESS

M. B. writes: If the legs tend to swell on long plane and train trips, would it be a good idea to wear elasticized hose?

REPLY

This will help but puffiness can be minimized by standing up and walking about periodically.

WISHING WELL

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Oklahoma Gets Court Deadline To Reapportion

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A special federal court has given the Oklahoma Legislature until March 8, 1963 to reapportion itself on a population basis, giving city residents more voice in government.

In a 2-1 decision Friday the court said it was staying "judicial action on the solemn word of legislators that they will reapportion during the regular 1963 session starting next January."

Chief Justice A. P. Murrah of the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals and U.S. Dist. Judge Fred Daugherty joined in the decree. U.S. Dist. Judge Ross Rizley, a Republican, said he will file a dissenting opinion because he thinks reapportionment should be ordered immediately.

PONYTAIL

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

JUST TO PROVE — OR AT LEAST INDICATE — how magnanimous I am toward my critics, I give you herewith a blast from a reader in Brownsburg, Ind., who ticks me off because he knows more than I do.

He begins in friendly fashion: "Dorothy Kilgallen": (No "Dear," which wounds me right at the top.) But let us carry on bravely.

"So JFK is 'America's Sweetheart'?"

The urgency of "dashing off" a few comments regarding your insolent, recent, answer to "Constant Reader" is such that I can not wait to have my secretary write this up 'in style'. Instead (sic) I will write it on plain 'down to earth' writing paper, — long hand fashion, while flying home after one of my many business trips that take me to the farthest corners of 'our country'.

"For some reason you seem to think 'Constant Reader' does not get around much. Let me tell you, Dorothy, that I am one person who does 'get around' — perhaps a couple of thousand miles per year more than a certain authority (?) named Dorothy Kilgallen.

"When JFK had just barely 'squeaked' thru, there was considerable joy amongst the 'rank and file' in the Democratic party.

"They didn't know what they succeeded (??) in getting into the White House. But they sure do now — and have far much more time than it seems to take for the 'all-wise' Kilgallen to wise up. The thinking Democrats today know that JFK and his Harvard Socialists and 'pink' loving apologists have taken over their party.

"You, Kilgallen, have a lot of nerve to state that JFK is 'America's Sweetheart'.

"The Republicans didn't want him in the 'first place', and the Democrats are leaving him now.

"So who wants him? And whose 'Sweetheart' is he?"

"Evidently, JFK is really only 'America's Sweetheart' for you, Dorothy, and the 'narrow circle' in which you 'get around'.

"I sincerely think that writing for the public should be a noble profession — not lightly taken. Remember, Dorothy, that there are many thousands of people in our country that belong to the masses who do not think too well for themselves, but who look to you and others who write in our free press for enlightenment and guidance.

"Don't you feel that you owe them — remember that they are fellow Americans — more consideration than to carry a torch for those in our country who would make of our U.S.A. the very thing that the Pilgrims came to this country to escape.

"It makes me, and the people I talk with both Democrats and Republicans, sick and tired to hear anyone extol an administration who has no respect for solvency and fiscal responsibility, but who caters only to baser instincts in the person, with promises that they need not worry, 'good old Uncle Sam will take care of you from the cradle to the grave.'"

After making it clear that the punctuation and the wordage is my correspondent's own, and acknowledging that I omitted three paragraphs of his letter for reasons of space, I will endeavor to answer his communication.

First of all, sir, forget about the Pilgrims. They haven't been around in a long time. There is no "Pilgrim vote" for Mr. Kennedy to worry about. While you're at it, you might as well forget the Republican vote, too; the only Republican who stands a chance of being elected is a Republican who sounds and acts like a Democrat. New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller, for example. We are living in an era strongly dominated by Keynesian Socialism, and the closer a candidate gets to that, the better chance he has of being elected.

You said it yourself when you made your crack about the "masses." They are the ones who have made President Kennedy "America's Sweetheart," and if you were a true American you would have respect for the masses. What makes you think you are better than one of the masses? You may be, but if you are as patriotic as you sound, you shouldn't think you are.

I didn't make President Kennedy; the masses did. The masses

Family Leaves N.O. To Join Reverse Rider

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The family of Mosel Armstrong — one of the first Negro "Reverse Freedom Riders" sent from here to Concord, N.H. — left Friday to join Armstrong in the New England city.

The one-way bus ticket for Armstrong's wife and his four children, ranging from 6 to 11, were paid for by the Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans — the same pro-segregationist group which furnished Armstrong with transportation to the North.

Citizens Council executive Charles Singleman said Armstrong had obtained a job in Concord. He said Mrs. Armstrong and the four children were scheduled to arrive in Concord at 2:15 p.m. local time Sunday.

Meanwhile at Shreveport, the Citizens Council of Louisiana sent four more Reverse Freedom Riders to Hyannis, Mass. — the resort town near President Kennedy's Cape Cod summer home. The council paid for one-way bus tickets for Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Jones and their two young daughters. They brought to 50 the number of reverse riders sent out of the state from the Shreveport area.

Flyway Council Votes To Ask For Forty-Day Hunting Season

Will Also Recommend Bag Limits

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (Special)—The Mississippi Flyway Council voted Friday to ask the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for a 40-day duck season for the Mississippi Flyway, including Louisiana and Arkansas.

A resolution sponsored by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission was adopted by the flyway council after a floor fight during which several states objected.

The council voted to ask for a 40-day season with a framework of Oct. 1-Jan. 15, including a four-day limit of two mallards and two other big ducks or two wood ducks.

COMMISSION HAPPY
"We are happy with the recommendations," commented Louisiana assistant director Richard Yancey. "In the past our flyway has been discriminated against."

Yancey will represent the Louisiana commission at a Washington meeting Tuesday where the council recommendation will be presented to the federal government.

A final decision on the framework is expected from the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service around Aug. 15. Arkansas Director Nelson Cox, flyway chairman, will represent the flyway at the Washington meeting.

"We are not leaving any stones unturned," said E. R. McDonald Sr., Louisiana commission chairman, of Newellton.

"I urge all Louisiana sportsmen to contact their congressional representatives and urge them to support the council's recommendations to the federal government."

Last year Louisiana got an early 19½-day season with a three-duck bag, but the state received most of the flyway's waterfowl in January.

TWO-SCAUP BONUS
The Louisiana delegation — including Director L. D. Young, biologist Mort Smith and commissioner Richard Fleming of Shreveport — also was successful in obtaining in the council's recommendation a two-scaup bonus for South Louisiana, from U.S. 90 south.

Yancey pointed out that 1½-million scaups landed in South Louisiana last year.

The council's recommendations for geese were the same as last year — 60-day season with a five-geese bag limit, but with a bag limit of two on Canadas and whitefronts.

Other resolutions included:
1. Six bag limit on coots.
2. That the Mississippi Flyway season and bag limits be not less than those of the neighboring flyways — Atlantic and Central.

LOUISIANA VICTORIES
The recommendations were victories for the Louisiana delegation, opposed by representatives from Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Art Hawkins, chief biologist for the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service in the flyway, said, "It doesn't seem to matter what the service recommends."

The service surveys, though not complete, last showed a 17 percent reduction in the waterfowl production in the Canada nesting grounds.

"We've shown ourselves to be completely irresponsible," said Jim Kimball, outgoing council chairman, from Minnesota.

"I think a degree of sanity has returned to this council," Yancey replied.

The Louisiana Wildlife Federation was represented at the three-day conference by its executive secretary, Charles Bosch of Baton Rouge.

Toronto Hurler
Obtained By A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics announced Friday they had obtained Orlando Pena, a right-handed pitcher, from Toronto of the International League.

In exchange the club sent Leo Posada, an outfielder, and Bill Kunkel, a pitcher, to Toronto.

Pena, a Cuban, has a 9-7 record with the Canadian club. His earned run average is 2.90.

Posada in 29 games with the A's this season is hitting .196. Kunkel has been pitching for Portland in the Pacific Coast League. As part of the deal, Robert Topplin, also a hurler, has been sent to Portland.

Paul Harney Gains Lead In Insurance City Open

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Middle-aged Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., requiring only 28 putts, shot a blistering 66 Friday for a 36-hole total of 132 and the halfway lead in the $35,000 Insurance City Open Golf Tournament.

The 33-year-old Harney, with back-to-back 66s, posted six birdies, all one-putters, in his 34-32 round over the par 35-36-71 Wethersfield Country Club course.

"It was my best putting performance of the year," said the 145-pound Harney, who missed four of the 18 greens but nonetheless made up for it with his brilliant short game. The putts ranged from 2 to 25 feet, the longest on the 13th.

He also collected birdies on the 14th and 15th to go 10 under, and finished with three pars. "Guess

I kept getting tighter on those from a trap and Lattier with a last three holes," Harney said. 12-foot putt Wall eagled the second hole, N.C. Jack Burke of Kin

Plains, N.C., who was the first round leader with a 65, shot a 70 for he was the Pensacola Open in 1959.

Two strokes behind Harney at 134 were Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N.C., Jack Burke of Kin-Pines, N.C., and Gene Littler of San Diego, Calif., the 1961 U.S. Open champion, and Jerry Steele, Smith of Glendale, Calif.

Bob Brue of Milwaukee, who led the first round in the National Open in 1961, and Juan Rodriguez of Puerto Rico, who won the 1958 U.S. Open, were in contention with 136.

Right behind them were Bruce Crampton, Howie Johnson, Tom Bolt and Al Geiberger, with 137. Boros and Lattier bagged eagles on the 14th, Boros with a 20-footer.

HIS 10TH STRAIGHT
Don Drysdale Gets Season's First 20

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Right-hander Don Drysdale became the season's first 20-game winner in the major leagues Friday night as he pitched the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers to an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs. It was also Drysdale's 10th straight victory.

Drysdale, beaten only four times this year, got off to a staggering start but shut out the Cubs on four hits the last eight innings. Drysdale, who had never before won more than 17 games in a single season, struck out six and didn't walk a man. He has gone 46 1/3 innings—the equivalent of more than five games—without giving up a single walk.

Drysdale is the Dodgers' first 20-game winner since Don New-combe won 27 in 1956.

This was the fifth victory for the Dodgers in their last six games. And, for the fifth time in six games, Frank Howard batted in the deciding run. This time he did it with a third inning single.

The Cubs got all their runs and four hits in the first inning. Don Landrum opened with a double and scored on a single by Ken Hubbs. Ron Santo brought Hubbs in with a triple and scored himself when Ernie Banks singled.

The Dodgers got two runs back in their half of the first. Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam opened with walks. Willie Davis, who finished with four hits, drove in Wills with a single and Gilliam scored on a grounder by Tom Davis.

The Dodgers took a 4-3 lead in the third, Ron Fairly driving in one run with a double and Howard bringing in the other with his single. That was enough for Drysdale.

Starr Hurls 5 TD Passes In 42-20 Win

By TED IMITS

CHICAGO (AP)—The Green Bay Packers finally wore down a surprisingly talented college All-Star football team Friday night before 65,000, winning the 29th game in the classic series 42-20 on five touchdown passes by quarterback Bart Starr.

But it was the passing of John Hadl of Kansas, drafted by the San Diego Chargers of the rival American Football League, that kept the National Football League Champions scrambling until deep into the third period when the Packers finally took command.

Hadl's passes put the All-Stars in front 7-0 on the opening kickoff, and after the Packers tied it 7-7, Greg Mather took advantage of a fumble to kick the first of two field goals, this from the 26, to put the All-Stars ahead 10-7 in the second period.

With the Packers leading 14-10 at the start of the second half, Hadl passed 21 to Charlie Bryant to send the All-Stars in front 17-14. Then Mather kicked another field goal, this for 14 yards, to narrow the score to 21-20. But two fourth period touchdown passes from Starr to Max McGee, one for 20 and the other for 35 yards, put the game on ice.

The exciting, see-saw game was played in 79 degree temperature under the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The Packers' victory gave the pros a lead of 19-8 in the series. Two games were tied.

Starr's five touchdown passes set a game record for the series. The game marked the return to the top action of Paul Hornung, recently released by the Army. He ripped over several substantial gains and was unerring on conversions for the NFL champs.

The All-Stars played without the services of Ernie Davis of Syracuse, hospitalized with a blood ailment, and Ronnie Bull of Baylor, also on the sick list.

The All-Stars electrified the crowd and scored their touchdown on a sparkling march from their 20 after the opening kickoff, with Hadl's sharp, low passes accounting for 71 of the yards. He threw to Bryant for 19, to Earl Gros for 12, to Lance Alworth for 22, and to Curtis McCClinton for 18, the last putting the ball on the Packers' 2.

Two plunges gained one and then Gros carried it over and Mather converted. Stung by the All-Star touch-down, the Packers retaliated in the extremely businesslike fashion kick-off returned the kick on the All-Star 37. Elijah Pitts off to the Packers 33 and Starr ran 22 yards and then, with the promptly passed to Boyd Dowler ball on the 3, he circled end for who was downed on the All-Star 18 for a gain of 49 yards. Set back 15 yards on a penalty, Starr again passed to Dowler, who went to the 9, and when a holding penalty put the ball on the 22, Starr tossed to Dowler in the end zone for the touchdown and Hornung converted to make it 7-7.

The Packers touchdown that put the Green Bay team ahead 14-10 just as the half ended came after some wild scrambling. The Packers looked as if they had a touchdown in their grasp but Angelo Dabiero grabbed one of Starr's passes on the All-Star 2 and ran it out to the 37. Then Roman Gabriel's pass was intercepted by Dan Currie who ran it 27 yards to the All-Star 27. Starr passed to Boyd Dowler for 23 yards and then to Ron Kramer in the end zone with 28 seconds to play.

Herb Adderley's fumble on the return on the second half kickoff set up the second All-Star touchdown. Henry Rivera recovered on the Packers 25, and then from the 22, Hadl passed wide to Bryant who scored Mather converted to Starr's 22. The Packers came back in the third period on a downfield march climaxed by Starr's 22 yard touchdown pass to Dowler to go ahead 21-17, the All-Stars still challenged.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pitcher Steve Barber of the Baltimore Orioles and fullback Alex Hawkins of the Baltimore Colts were in Union Memorial Hospital Friday with mystifying fevers.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, physician for both teams, said tests so far have failed to show what is causing both athletes to have prolonged high fevers.

Barber has reported recurrent fever for three weeks. Hawkins has been bothered since the Colt training camp started July 23.

Dr. Mayer said diagnosis is date ruled out infectious mononucleosis.

Skeeter McClure Puts Unbeaten Mark On Line

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure, the 1960 Olympic middleweight boxing champion, puts his unbeaten nine-bout pro record on the line against tough Farid Salim Saturday night in a 10-round fight in Madison Square Garden.

The fight will be televised nationally (ABC, 9 p.m., EST).

McClure, who is a lightning-fast puncher, has scored five knockouts during his brief pro career but has never fought anyone of Salim's caliber and will be a definite underdog.

Salim, no slouch himself when it comes to speedy fists, has won 34 bouts, drawn twice and lost only twice. He has scored 14 knockouts with his stand-up style and can absorb a lot of punishment.

McClure, from Toledo, Ohio, has been the busier fighter this year, winning all five of his fights. Salim has not fought since March 10 when he outpointed Joey Giambra but the layoff is not expected to dull his ring sense.

after a punt was set up by a wild swing, that Leo Folkins of the Packers took an All-Star only to connect with backfield judge Tom Kelleher who was knocked flat. The All-Stars were given the ball on the Packers 45. Bobby Ply, in at quarterback, tossed a pass to Charles Bryant that went to the Packers 3, but a stubborn

Packer line put the Stars back to the 6 where Mather kicked another field goal, the ball being held on the 14. This made the score 21-20 in favor of the Packers.

In the waning moments, with the Packers leading 35-20 after Starr's two touchdown passes to McGee, the Packers added their final TD aided by a roughing the kicker penalty that put the ball on the All-Star 37. Elijah Pitts off to the Packers 33 and Starr ran 22 yards and then, with the promptly passed to Boyd Dowler ball on the 3, he circled end for who was downed on the All-Star 18 for a gain of 49 yards. Flyway Council Votes To Ask For Forty-Day Hunting Season

Will Also Recommend Bag Limits

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (Special) —The Mississippi Flyway Council voted Friday to ask the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for a 40-day duck season for the Mississippi Flyway, including Louisiana and Arkansas.

A resolution sponsored by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission was adopted by the flyway council after a floor fight during which several states objected.

The council voted to ask for a 40-day season with a framework of Oct. 1-Jan. 15, including a four-duck limit of two mallards and two other big ducks or two wood ducks.

COMMISSION HAPPY

"We are happy with the recommendations," commented Louisiana assistant director Richard Yancey. "In the past our flyway has been discriminated against."

Yancey will represent the Louisiana commission at a Washington meeting Tuesday where the council recommendation will be presented to the federal government.

A final decision on the framework is expected from the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service around Aug. 15. Arkansas Director Nelson Cox, flyway chairman, will represent the flyway at the Washington meeting.

"We are not leaving any stones unturned," said E. R. McDonald, Sr., Louisiana commission chairman, of Newellton.

"I urge all Louisiana sportsmen to contact their congressional representatives and urge them to support the council's recommendations to the federal government."

Last year Louisiana got an early 1965 season with a three-duck bag, but the state received most of the flyway's waterfowl in January.

TWO-SCAUP BONUS

The Louisiana delegation — including Director L. D. Young, biologist Mort Smith and commissioner Richard Fleming of Shreveport — also was successful in obtaining in the council's recommendation a two-scaup bonus for South Louisiana, from U.S. 90 south.

Two plunges gained one and then Gros carried it over and Mather converted.

Stung by the All-Star touchdown, the Packers retaliated in extremely businesslike fashion. Herb Adderley returned the kickoff to the Packers 33 and Starr promptly passed to Boyd Dowler who was downed on the All-Star 13 for a gain of 49 yards. Set back 15 yards on a penalty, Starr again passed to Dowler, who went to the 9, and when a holding penalty put the ball on the 22, Starr tossed to Dowler in the end zone for the touchdown and Hornung converted to make it 7-7.

The Packers touchdown that put the Green Bay team ahead 14-10 just as the half ended came after some wild scrambling. The Packers looked as if they had a touchdown in their grasp but Angelo Dabiero grabbed one of Starr's passes on the All-Star 27 and ran it out to the 37. Then Roman Gabriel's pass was intercepted by Dan Currie who ran it 27 yards to the All-Star 27. Starr passed to Boyd Dowler for 23 yards and then to Ron Kramer in the end zone with 28 seconds to play.

Herb Adderley's fumble on the return on the second half kickoff set up the second All-Star touchdown. Henry Rivera recovered on the Packers 25, and then from the 22, Hadl passed wide to Bryant who scored Mather converted.

After the Packers came back in the third period on a downfield march climaxed by Starr's 22 yard touchdown pass to Dowler to go ahead 21-17, the All-Stars still challenged.

Two Athletes Have Mystifying Fevers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pitcher Steve Barber of the Baltimore Orioles and halfback Alex Hawkins of the Baltimore Colts were in Union Memorial Hospital Friday with mystifying fevers.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, physician for both teams, said tests so far have failed to show what is causing both athletes to have prolonged high fevers.

Barber has reported recurrent fever for three weeks. Hawkins has been bothered since the Colt training camp started July 23.

Dr. Mayer said diagnosis to date ruled out infectious mononucleosis.

Sellout

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — University of Texas Athletic Director Ed Olle said Friday the Oct. 13 Texas-Oklahoma football game is a sellout.

Olle said the capacity crowd of 75,000 in Dallas' Cotton Bowl will be the 17th straight time the game has been sold out.

Smith Takes Lead In Amateur Meet

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Walker Cup player Charles Smith of Gastonia, N.C., caught fire in the rain Friday for a 3-under-par 67 and the first round lead in the Eastern Amateur Golf Tournament.

Knife-edged accuracy on fairways and greens helped Smith wind up two strokes ahead of David Daniels of Columbus, Ohio.

BRUISING FULLBACK Earl Gros (No. 40, center, facing No. 83), of Louisiana State, goes over for the first score in the game between the College All-Stars and the Green Bay Packers in Chicago Friday night. Other players include Henry Jordan (74), and Willie Wood (24) of the Packers, LSU's All-American Roy Winston (60), and Bill Miller (83) from Miami U. (AP Wirephoto)

Skeeter McClure Puts Unbeaten Mark On Line

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure, the 1960 Olympic middleweight boxing champion, puts his unbeaten nine-bout pro record on the line against tough Farid Salim Saturday night in a 10-round fight in Madison Square Garden.

The fight will be televised nationally (ABC, 9 p.m., EST).

McClure, who is a lightning knockout during his brief pro career but has never fought anyone of Salim's caliber and will be a definite underdog.

Salim, no slouch himself when it comes to speedy fists, has won 34 bouts, drawn twice and lost only twice. He has scored 14 knockouts with his stand-up style and can absorb a lot of punishment.

McClure, from Toledo, Ohio, has been the busier fighter this year, winning all five of his fights. Salim has not fought since March 10 when he outpointed Joey Giambra but the layoff is not expected to dull his ring sense.

after a punt was set up by a wild throw that Lee Folkins of the Packers took at an All-Star only to connect with backfield judge Tom Kelleher who was knocked flat. The All-Stars were given the ball on the Packers 45. Bobby Ply, in at quarterback, tossed a pass to Charles Bryant that went to the Packers 3, but a stubborn Packer line put the Stars back to the 6 where Mather kicked another field goal, the ball being held down on the 14. This made the score 21-20 in favor of the Packers.

In the waning moments, with the Packers leading 35-20 after Starr's two touchdown passes to McGee, the Packers added their final TD aided by a roughing the kicker penalty that put the ball on the All-Star 37. Elijah Pitts ran 22 yards and then, with the ball on the 3, he circled end for the touchdown.

AFL Launches Season Tonight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The American Football League launches its season Saturday night with exhibition games at Atlanta and Houston. There will be new quarter back faces to look over at each location.

Oakland and Dallas clash at 8 p.m., at Atlanta in the first of four games set for newly-born America Field.

Houston, the only champion the AFL ever has known, will take on the New York Titans at Houston, also at 8 p.m.

In the rival National Football League, Minnesota and Dallas will hold a "controlled scrimmage" at Bemidji, Minn., while most of the other NFL clubs plan full-scale scrimmages today.

Oakland will start the season without its two-year quarterback regular, Tom Flores. He is out for the season with a lung infection. Don Heinrich has come out of retirement and M. C. Reynolds has been obtained from Buffalo to fill the Raider quarterback spot. Dallas still has veteran Colton Davidson as its regular but will test rookie Eddie Wilson of Arizona and Len Dawson, obtained from Cleveland.

George Blanda, Houston's player of the year in the AFL, is out of action because of an operation for thyroid trouble. The Oilers will depend on Jack Lee, Blanda's replacement for two seasons, and rookies Don Sessions of Houston and Don Breaux of McNeese. New York has picked up veteran Ed Sogin from Boston and will use him, Bob Scrabis and rookie Dean Look of Michigan State.

A dozen rookies were at Chicago for the All-Star game but most of them will join the parent clubs on Saturday in time for service if needed. It is doubtful, however, that many of them will be used after they have played Friday night and then made the long trips.

Rookies at Chicago included such highly-regarded prospects as Clinton of Kansas and end Bill Miller of Miami with the Dallas Texans; tackle Ray Jacobs of Howard Payne and linebacker Larry Onesti of Northwestern with Houston, and center Danny Birdwell of Houston with Oakland.

Rookie coaches also will be taking their first look at league opposition. Frank Ivy will direct Houston for the first time, replacing Wally Lemm, and Bull-dog Turner makes his start as head coach of New York. Ivy comes to Houston from St. Louis of the National Football League. Hank Stram is at the same old stand — at Dallas — and Marty Feldman is back with Oakland.

All eight of the league's teams will see action next week with Houston and Denver clashing at Atlanta on Aug. 10 and Boston battling Oakland at Providence, Dallas at San Diego and New York meeting Buffalo at New Haven on Aug. 11.

Winner of the state event will represent Louisiana in the 1962 Little Boys Dixie World Series to be held in West Monroe August 20-25.

All teams entered in the state tourney will see action today, weather permitting. Jefferson Parish opposes Fourth District champs, South Bossier City in the second game of the day beginning at 3 p.m.

The Ferriday squad, who automatically gained a berth in the state tourney as hosts is slated to go against a strong Pineville team in the 8:15 night-cap. Pineville staged a come-from-behind rally during regular season play to take the District Eight title.

De Ridder, pride of the Seventh District and Sixth District titlist, Ponchatoula are scheduled to battle in the third game of the day beginning at 6:15 p.m.

Yankees Are Still Biggest Drawing Team In Baseball

CHICAGO (AP) — Like 'em or not, the New York Yankees are still the biggest attraction in baseball. In fact, more fans have seen the Yankees on the road than at home this year.

At home, the Yankees have drawn 942,934 fans in 42 dates, but it is on the road where their attendance figures are most impressive.

In eight of the nine parks they have visited this year, the Yankees have set season highs in attendance. Only in Chicago has another visitor outdrawn the Yankees. The honor goes to Cleveland which drew 33,843 at Clevelskay Park for a night game on June 29.

The Yankees, who opened a three-day series at Comiskey Park Friday, were virtually certain of topping that figure either Saturday or Sunday. They have attracted 1,378,884 in 46 dates on the road. That's an average of about 30,000.

In all, there have been 16 crowds of 40,000 or more in the American League this season. The Yankees were one of the combatants in 14 of these games, including the season high of 70,918 at Cleveland on June 17.

Yanks Smash ChiSox Indians Edge A's, 1-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Gradually turning the American League into a runaway, the New York Yankees went on an extra-basis hit binge Friday and smashed the Chicago White Sox 10-2.

The victory was the ninth in the last 10 games for the Bombers.

Home runs by Tom Tresh, Elston Howard and Bobby Richardson spiced a 14-hit attack against Chicago starter Juan Pizarro and three successors. The Yankees also clubbed four doubles, enabling Ralph Terry to score his 15th victory against nine losses. Before Chicago could get a run, the Yankees had grabbed a 7-0 lead.

CHICAGO (AP) — Four generations of baseball stars crowded Candlestick Park Saturday for Old-Timers Day, a program dedicated to former Giants and those who made their start in San Francisco.

American League President Joe Cronin, a San Francisco product, will be there along with the three DiMaggio brothers—Joe, Dom and Vince.

Joh Chief Myers, the catcher for Christy Mathewson in that heyday of the New York Giants, celebrated his 82nd birthday last week and will be on hand to watch the festivities.

Ex-Giants Paul Richards and Eddie Stanky, now executives at Houston and St. Louis respectively, will be here. So will Leo Durocher, the Los Angeles Dodgers coach who piloted the Giants to pennants in 1951 and 1954. He'll manage the ex-Giants in their abbreviated game against a team of former members of the Pacific Coast League San Francisco Seals and natives of this city.

Newest "old timer" is Hank Sauer, the home run slugger who retired during the 1959 season and is now on the Giants' scouting staff.

Grosscup Sold To Minnesota

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League announced the purchase Friday of quarterback Lee Grosscup from the New York Giants.

Grosscup, who was the Giants No. 1 draft choice in 1959, saw little action in three seasons with New York. His NFL passing record shows 16 completions in 47 attempts for 231 yards and two touchdowns.

The acquisition of Grosscup, a former Utah All-American, gives the Vikings four quarterbacks. The others are Fran Tarkenton, George Shaw and rookie John McCormick.

Regularly scheduled action in Southside League play pits North Monroe Lions vs. KLIC (5 p.m.) and Purity Ice Cream vs. Twin City Printing (7 p.m.) at Lions Field.

Aparicio Denies He Plans To Play Ball In Japan

CHICAGO (AP)—Luis Aparicio, Chicago White Sox shortstop, laughed Friday at reports that he would play winter baseball in Japan after the major league season ends this year.

"There's no winter baseball in Japan," said Aparicio. "I'm pretty sure I'll be playing in Venezuela this winter."

Aparicio was suspended for three years after the 1960 winter campaign because he refused to play in a seventh game of a post-season playoff.

"I played in the first six games and then had to come to Chicago," said Aparicio. "I was suspended for three years by Dr. Estacio. He's commissioner of Caracas League. He had no business to suspend me because I play in the Venezuelan League."

Shoulder Separation

EAST AURORA, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo Bills team physician James Sullivan said Friday that veteran defensive end Mack Yoho has a slight shoulder separation and will be lost to the American Football League club for at least 10 days.

Drivers Unhurt In Auto Mishap

ADENAU, Germany (AP) — British racing driver Graham Hill and South African Tony Maggs escaped injury when their cars crashed into a television camera and spun off the track during Friday's practice for Sunday's German Grand Prix.

Hill was in a BRM, and Maggs, in a Cooper.

Although neither was injured, the accident caused severe damage to both cars—estimated at about $5,000—and both are doubtful starters Sunday.

Pelican League Finals Tonight

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Alexandria and West Carroll wind - up the Pelican baseball tournament in a deciding game here tonight at 7:30 p.m. after Alexandria won two games Friday to keep its hopes alive.

The host team downed Franklin 3-2 in the opener then came back to blast West Carroll 10-0 in the nightcap. Had West Carroll won the second game the series would have ended at that point.

Charles Carroll pitched three-hit ball in gaining the shutout win. A two-run homer by Ernie Knoblock of Alexandria highlighted the winner's 10-run attack.

If a golfer knocks his opponent's ball into the hole the opponent should be credited as having holed out on his last stroke.

Pirates Pass Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Howie Goss' two-run homer sparked an early Pittsburgh outburst that carried the Pirates past the San Francisco Giants 5-2 Friday night. The loss dropped the Giants five games behind league-leading Los Angeles and narrowed their second place margin over Cincinnati to 3½ games.

The Pirates' game, 16 hits on four Giants' pitchers. They led 2-0 starting the fourth inning when Don Hoak singled to center off loser Juan Marichal. Goss followed with a home run to left, only his second of the year.

Winner Alvin McBean gave up two runs—only one earned—in five and one third innings. He was lifted during a mild giant threat in the sixth.

Miss Salisbury Is Hostess At Afternoon Party

Tuesday, July 31, Miss Marianne Salisbury was hostess in her home on Jasmine Street with an afternoon party honoring Miss Carol Waschka, who is moving to Alexandria, and Miss Sherry Heine, a former resident of Monroe, who has recently moved to Baker, Louisiana. Games, and conversation filled the afternoon hours. The refreshment table on the patio was centered with an arrangement of pink zinnias. Iced drinks were served from a wheelbarrow. Those invited to share the occasion with the honor guests were the Misses Ann Murphy, Betsy Taylor, Susan Stone, Pam Pierpont, Betty Stevens, Mary Carolyn Wilds, Barbara Kurtz, Myla Lance, Delores Schneider, Bonnie Bancroft, Sally Suduth, Nancy Hammonds, Jackie Mehl, Susan Jacka, Cynthia Terzia, Claire Schonlau, Liza Schonlau, Dottie Kiper, Marilyn Maxwell, Gay Gannaway, and Nell Smith.

Coffee Honors Julia Webb

Miss Julia Webb, prospective bride who continues to be feted prior to her wedding August 11, was complimented with a coffee party on Tuesday morning, July 31 at the home of Mrs. W. R. Roper. Co-hostesses were Mrs. A. L. Girod, Mrs. Jeff Goza and Mrs. L. E. Levee. Receiving with Miss Webb, who wore yellow cotton accented with white embroidery and a white glabella corsage, were her mother, Mrs. R. C. Webb Jr., and Mrs. Claude W. Grimes, mother of the bridegroom-elect. A green and white color scheme was effectively used throughout the reception rooms with arrangements of dahlias, zinnias and periwinkle and green foliage plants. The refreshment table overlaid with a white cut work cloth had as a centerpiece a bouquet of white phlox, petunias and verbenas. Mrs. Ralph Lee presided at the silver service, and Mrs. E. B. Towne Jr., served cafe au lait. Misses Janet and Judith Brown alternated at the bride's book.

Luncheon, Dinner Precede Masur-McElhaney Vows

Miss Jackie Masur and John Hess McElhaney, who are to be married this morning at First Presbyterian church, were honored last night with a dinner in the private dining room at the Embers following rehearsal of the bridal party. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis K. McElhaney of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, parents of the prospective groom, were hosts. The bride-elect chose for this occasion a trousseau model of Persian blue Italian silk with princess style bodice and flared skirt. Her stole was of Thai silk in shades of blue and indigo. She wore gold accessories and a white orchid corsage. Guests were seated at three tables. A large silver epergne, filled with white gladioli and palms and flanked with silver candelabra holding white tapers, decorated the center table. Smaller arrangements of white gladioli with miniature tapers were used on round tables at each side. The honorees presented engraved gifts of silver to their attendants. Present for this party were Miss Barbara Masur, Miss Gretchen Masur, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Masur, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McElhaney, Dr. W. H. McFadden, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope, Mr. and Mrs. Dave McComb, Mr. and Mrs. William Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Jim James, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Upshaw, Jr., Mrs. F. J. Davis, Mrs. Roy Rackley, Mrs. Alfred Bruneau, Miss Laura Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. George Hemphill. SPINSTERS' LUNCHEON Mrs. Milton Barnes of Shreveport was hostess for a spinsters' luncheon honoring Miss Masur at Bayou DeSiard Country Club at one p.m., Thursday. The bride-elect was wearing orange linen styled with fitted bodice, sabrina neckline and flared skirt. She wore a white kid tie belt and other accessories of white patent. The table in the private dining room was centered with a silver epergne holding yellow carnations, tube roses, and leather leaf fern. Yellow candles burned in branched candelabra at each end of the table and on the buffet. Invited to share this occasion with the honoree were Mrs. Jack Masur, Miss Debby Barnes of Shreveport, Mrs. F. J. Davis, Mrs. James McElhaney, Miss Laura Davis, Mrs. Elton Upshaw, Jr., Mrs. Milton Gorn, Mrs. Marion Lewis, Mrs. Richard Crowe, Miss Gay Demmay, Miss Lynda Eby, Miss Gretchen Masur, Miss Barbara Masur. COMBINE CANNED SOUPS Many ready-prepared soups combine well with other soups and flavors. For instance, green pea soup and tomato soup combined become puree mongole. A can of cream of chicken soup and a can of tomato soup seasoned with a little curry powder, grated onion and sherry is interesting served hot or cold. According to Margaret Spader, home service consultant for the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, it is important to dilute the soups according to the directions on the can. Heat them slowly over a low gas flame and stir occasionally so the texture will be smooth and the flavors well blended. LIME-TEA COOLER Frosted lime-tea cooler is a refreshing summer beverage. Stir together briskly ¼ cup each of powdered instant tea, sugar, water and fresh, frozen or canned lime juice. Add slowly 3 (12-ounce) bottles of gingerale. Freeze in refrigerator tray until ice crystals form throughout. Pour into tall glasses. Serve with straws.

"MISS LOUISIANA" CHOOSES BALDWIN ORGAN

The Staff and Management of Roark Bros. Music Co. of Monroe, Louisiana were honored this week by a visit from Miss Diana Jane Smith of Oak Ridge, La. Miss Smith was recently selected Miss Louisiana of 1962. After a pleasant visit Miss Louisiana made her selection of a new Baldwin Organ for use in her home and for her solo instrument at the Miss America Beauty Pageant in September. Shown above assisting Miss Louisiana is Mr. Henry J. Freeman of Roark's Baldwin Organ Department. The Baldwin Organ has long been a favorite of professionals and amateurs alike. True organ tones, tremendous tonal variety, and dependable electronic equipment make the Baldwin the logical choice for everyone.

Country Club Scene Of Rehearsal Dinner Party

A dinner Friday night at Bayou DeSiard Country Club followed the rehearsal of the bridal party of Miss Helene Earle Lowery and Ronald Reece, whose wedding will be solemnized tonight at 7 p.m. in Rayville Methodist Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Rayville, and Mr. Reece is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Reece of Creve Coeur, Missouri. Hosts for the event were Mrs. Robert R. Rhymes, Dr. and Mrs. Ben B. Cobb and Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Oliver. A pyramid arrangement of pink lilies graced a table at the entrance of the club. The bride's table was centered with a low arrangement of white stock and tuberoses flanked by silver candelabra entwined with ivy and nosegays. Seven individual tables held single candlesticks holding white tapers and nosegays of white flowers and ivy. For the occasion Miss Lowery was wearing a white lace sheath. Guests in addition to the be-

Prenuptial Parties Given For Miss Suzanne Smith

Three parties last weekend honored Miss Suzanne Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Smith, who is to be married August 19 to Mark Snellgrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Snellgrove of Plaquemine. Included were a luncheon, linen shower, and swimming party.

Mrs. A. T. Van Vechoven was hostess for luncheon at Bayou Desiard country club Saturday, July 28. The party was held in the private dining room, where the table held a silver bowl filled with white Fuji mums, tube roses, and stock.

Miss Smith chose for this affair a trousseau model of brown and white with a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis. She received a gift of silver.

Place cards with wedding bells marked places for Mrs. Will Graham, Mrs. Malcolm Keith, Mrs. Carson Thompson, Jr., Miss Sharon Ann Thompson, Mrs. M. H. Collet, Miss Dian Collet, Mrs. Dick Dean, Miss Sandy Dean, Mrs. Smith, Miss Barbara Smith, the hostess and the honoree.

A linen shower was the complement of Mrs. M. H. Collet and Miss Dian Collet to Miss Smith, Saturday afternoon at their home on Deborah drive.

White stock, tuberoses, and chrysanthemums centered the linen-covered table. At one side stood a white dove figure holding a card embossed "Suzie and Mark". Miss Linda Collet assisted in serving.

The honoree wore a white outfit with red accessories as she greeted the thirty guests who called between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m.

On Sunday, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Williams on Circle "W" ranch was the setting for an afternoon party, hosted by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Malcolm J. Keith, Jr., and honoring Miss Smith.

Arrangements of spray flowers and magnolia blossoms adorned tables placed at intervals around the swimming pool. Guests invited to share this occasion with Miss Smith were Miss Sharon Ann Thompson, Miss Barbara Smith, Mrs. Frank P. Smith, Miss Cindy Guilkey, Mrs. Malcolm Keith, Miss Sandra Simpson, Miss Diane Harris, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Ronald Squyers, Mrs. Roland Coates Jr., Mrs. Skippy Portman, and Mrs. Terry Reeves.

Farmerville Party Honors Miss Harvey

A compliment to Miss Patricia Harvey of Farmerville, bride-elect of Wayne Duke of Alexandria, whose marriage will be an event of Aug. 17 at the Second Baptist Church in Farmerville, was a bridal shower hosted by Mrs. C. C. Odom, Mrs. Ingram Ballard, Mrs. Carl Holloway, Mrs. Lonnie Black, Mrs. Marshall Drummond and Mrs. John L. Hicks, on Friday evening between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock in the reception room at the church.

Mrs. Hicks greeted the guests at the entrance. Receiving with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Flo Harvey, and the prospective bride - groom's mother, Mrs. O. H. Duke of Marion. The bride-elect was wearing a trousseau model of beige organza over matching taffeta, with a red carnation corsage.

Miss Pat Drummonds presided the bride's book. Arrangements of red and white summer flowers were placed at vantage points.

The table was covered with a white organza flounced cloth, with lace inserts, over red satin. White pom pom chrysanthemums and peppermint carnations, were used with red rope candles in an antique brass and crystal epergne-candelabra.

Miss Glenda Dumas ladled punch and Miss Ann Ballard served the dainty wedding cakes. Miss Sue Gray served as tea girl.

A large number of guests called during the appointed hours, many from West Monroe, Junction City, Marion, Bernice, and Ruston.

Sally Hinkle Honored With Three Parties

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Heard, Jr., on Auburn avenue, was scene of a tula party Friday evening, July 27, honoring Miss Sally Hinkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle, and bride-elect of Frank Harmon Col-vette of Memphis.

Flambeaux led to the garden gate. Inside the garden, Chinese lanterns, hanging in trees provid-ed a background glow for the fountain which was filled with floating orchids.

Dress for the evening featured hopi coats for the men and mu-muus for the ladies. Miss Hin-kle's muumuu was of large red Hawaiian flowers on a back-ground of white, further compli-mented with an orchid lei.

Those sharing the festive party with the honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Burchall Liles, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rivers, Dr. and Mrs. Doyle Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. James Cutler, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Woodruff, Miss Ella Dayle of Memphis and John Halstead of Austin, Texas.

DINNER PARTY
Saturday, July 28, Mr. and Mrs. James Allick of Baton Rouge entertained with a dinner party in the private dining room of the Bayou Desiard Country Club for Miss Hinkle and her fi-anee, Frank Colvett.

Centering the dining table was an arrangement of white asters and tuberoses held in a crystal bowl and flanked with crystal candleholders holding tall white tapers. Later the decorations were presented to the guests of honor.

For the occasion, Miss Hinkle wore a dress of black and white silk with accents of rose. Her cor-sage was of tuberoses. Those in-vited for 8:00 p.m. were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Richardson of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Miss Ella Dayle of Memphis, John Halstead of Austin, Texas, the hosts and the honor couple.

BRIDGE-DESSERT
Miss James Woodruff honored Miss Hinkle, with a bridge and dessert party, Thursday, July 26 given on the patio of the Bayou Desiard Country Club.

For her party, the honoree was attired in lime green linen with matching sweater and white ac-cessories. Her gift from the hos-tes was of silver.

Six tables of players enjoyed the afternoon. High score was won by Mrs. Jack Rivers, with consolation going to Mrs. J. L. Adams, III.

Luncheons, Tea Shower Honor Jeanette Brooks

Miss Jeanette Brooks, daugh-ter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brooks, and bride-elect of Bennie Mac Farrar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Reed Farrar, whose mar-riage will take place Saturday, August 18, in the First Baptist church in West Monroe, was hon-ored at luncheon Thursday, July 26 in the Luther Branch home on Hamilton street in West Monroe.

Hostesses with Mrs. Branch were Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. Carl Metcalf, and Mrs. Victor Davis, Jr.

Pink roses in an antique angel epergne graced the dining table. Miss Brooks wore for the oc-ca-sion a trousseau model of aqua-lilk complimented with corsage of a white orchid surrounded by tuberoses.

Those invited for 12:30 were Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. Victor Davis, Jr., Mrs. Carl Metcalf, Mrs. Luther Branch, Mrs. Jim Campbell, Mrs. Ralph Caldwell, Mrs. S. A. Elliott, Mrs. H. H. Mullins, Mrs. Bruce Brooks, and the honoree.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column has such wide readership maybe you can put the heat on the dress manufacturers to do away with dresses that zip up the back. Whenever I'm in a hurry my zipper gets stuck right in the middle and I can't budge it. I've nearly strangled, thrown my neck out of joint and broken an arm trying to get a zipper up or down. This morning I was late for work again because of a back zipper. It got stuck in the middle and I had to tear my way out. Of course the dress is ruined. Will you join in the crusade to abolish dresses that zip up the back? SALLY

DEAR SALLY: Sorry, but back zippers are a definite plus in some marriages. One man told me it was the only way his wife really made him feel important. If back zippers are such a bane to you, resolve never to buy a dress unless it zips on the side or down the front. I have long since sworn off dresses that go over the head and wreck the hair-do. Unless I can step into a garment I re-fuse to try it on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My first wife and I were both profes-sional cooks. In fact, we met in the kitchen of a large hotel. A few years later we decided to call it quits. My present wife doesn't want me to set foot in the kitchen of our home. The minute I walk in, she quits cooking and walks out. I've tried to surprise her, but she refuses to eat a mouthful of anything I prepare. She claims she can't stand the sight or the odor of fish. If I want fish I have to cook it out in the garage on a hot plate. I also have to eat it there. I don't ask a lot. All I want is the privilege of living in my own home and putting around once in a while, as other men do.

DEAR BY: If your sister-in-law has been passing your house and ignoring you twice a week for four years it's by design. You say you've never done any-thing TO her. Have you ever done anything FOR her? Per-haps she figures you're the cold type, so she's leaving YOU alone. A little friendliness is the best de-froster in the world. Try it.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE
DEAR HELOISE:
To undo a knot in a shoelace or bonnet... insert a diaper pin in each half of the knot and pull! The knot comes apart as if by magic!

DEAR HELOISE:
Recently, much to my dismay, I found I had used too much high sudsing detergent in my top-load-ing washing machine and suds were oozing out around the lid.

Scooping the suds did no good as they just built up again when I started the ma-chine. Recalling how bubble bath suds start breaking down as soon as one begins to soap down, I dropped a small piece of face soap into the lint filter tray of my washing machine and started my ma-chine again... so the wa-ter going through the filter would wash over the soap.

Immediately those pesky suds began to subside and within a couple of minutes they were down to a safe level, where upon I RE-MOVED the soap and the suds stayed down for the rest of the washing cycle. I have also found that running cold water over a bar of soap will speed the breakdown of li-quid detergent suds when doing hand washing... discovered this when I accidentally knocked a bar of soap into the tub while trying to rinse some suds out, after doing hand washing. M.R.M.

DEAR GALS:
To me this was absolutely unbelievable... but I tried it! I filled a sink full of bub-bly bath, then dropped in a bar of soap and tried to make more suds. All the bubbles left! M. R. M., you are a real doll!

HELOISE:
After line - drying cardu-ry articles, I iron all of them by tossing them in my dryer for five minutes... just to fluff up the nap. Smooth them with your hand and hang them up and you are through! WANDA CUTSFORTH

Prenuptial Parties Given For Miss Suzanne Smith

Three parties last weekend honored Miss Suzanne Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Smith, who is to be married August 19 to Mark Snellgrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Snellgrove of Plaquemine. Included were a luncheon, linen shower, and swimming party.

Mrs. A. T. Van Veehoven was hostess for luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club Saturday, July 28. The party was held in the private dining room, where the table held a silver bowl filled with white Fuji mums, tube roses, and stock.

Miss Smith chose for this affair a trousseau model of brown and white with a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis. She received a gift of silver.

Place cards with wedding bells marked places for Mrs. Will Grafton, Mrs. Malcolm Keith, Mrs. Carey Thompson, Jr., Miss Sharon Ann Thompson, Mrs. M. H. Collet, Miss Dian Collet, Mrs. Dick Dean, Miss Sandy Dean, Mrs. Smith, Miss Barbara Smith, the hostess and the honoree.

A linen shower was the complement of Mrs. M. H. Collet and Miss Dian Collet to Miss Smith, Saturday afternoon at her home on Deborah drive.

White stock, tuberoses, and chrysanthemums centered the linen-covered table. At one side stood a white dove figure holding a card embossed "Susie and Mark". Miss Linda Collet assisted in serving.

The honoree wore a white outfit with red accessories as she greeted the thirty guests who called between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m.

On Sunday, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Williams on Circle "W" ranch was the setting for an afternoon party, hosted by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Malcolm J. Keith, Jr., and honoring Miss Smith.

Arrangements of spray flowers and magnolia blossoms adorned tables placed at intervals around the swimming pool.

Guests invited to share this occasion with Miss Smith were Miss Sharon Ann Thompson, Miss Barbara Smith, Mrs. Frank P. Smith, Miss Cindy Guilkey, Mrs. Malcolm Keith, Miss Sandra Simpson, Miss Diane Harris, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Ronald Squyers, Mrs. Roland Coates, Jr., Mrs. Skippy Portman, and Mrs. Terry Reeves.

Farmerville Party Honors Miss Harvey

A compliment to Miss Patricia Harvey of Farmerville, bride-elect of Wayne Duke of Alexandria, whose marriage will be an event of Aug. 17 at the Second Baptist Church in Farmerville, was a bridal shower hosted by Mrs. C. C. Odum, Mrs. Ingram Ballard, Mrs. Carl Holloway, Mrs. Lonnie Black, Mrs. Marshall Drummonds and Mrs. John L. Hicks, on Friday evening between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock in the reception room at the church.

Mrs. Hicks greeted the guests at the entrance. Receiving with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Flo Harvey, and the prospective bride - groom's mother, Mrs. O. H. Duke of Marion. The bride-elect was wearing a trousseau model of beige organza over matching taffeta, with a red carnation corsage.

Miss Pat Drummonds presided the bride's book. Arrangements of red and white summer flowers were placed at vantage points.

The tea table was covered with a white organza flounced cloth, with lace inserts, over red satin. White pom pom chrysanthemums and peppermint carnations, were used with red rope candles in an antique brass and crystal epergne-candelabra.

Miss Glenda Dumas ladled punch and Miss Ann Ballard served the dainty wedding cakes. Miss Sue Gray served as tea girl.

A large number of guests called during the appointed hours, many from West Monroe, Junction City, Marion, Bernice, and Ruston.

Linda Moore Is Honored On 16th Birthday

Linda Marie Moore was entertained Friday night July 27 at the American Legion home by her mother, Mrs. Annette B. Moore, on the occasion of her sixteenth birthday. Mrs. Moore was assisted by Anita Moore and Lynda Parsons.

Those attending the party were Misses Brenda Hensley, Rita Chapman, Alice Anzalone, Nadine Barrett, JoAnn Conti, Pat-sy Conti, Karla Economos, Mary Frances Elias, Marilyn Elias, Rose Canizaro, Sharyn McKeth-en, Madeline Lee Hedwood, Mary Ida Heck, Celia Reeder, Betty Varino, Georgette Varino, Pat-herlevic, Maureen Turner, Julia Turner, Kathy Jolissaint, Claire McGee, Sandy Usery, Charlene Shanar, Bonnie Baldo, Celia White, Helen Martin, Mil-dred Butta, Dell Bielkiewicz.

Also Tommy Gibbs, Zeekie Zairo, John Varino, Frank Varino, Dino Economos, Skeeter Rutter, Gary Licht, Jim Shanas, Steve Lasuzzo, Wayne Lasuzzo, Pete Storm, Donnie Elias, Al-dred Parsons, Frankie Accarada, Charlie Biggar, Salvatore Mile-tello, Bill Hochstetler, Paul Ply-er, V. J. Millet, Anthony Fava, Eric Minglederoff, Tiny Laws, Steve White, Andy Moody, Joe Clements, Charles Marsala, Richard Fontana, Jimmy Cal-houn, Joe Mullins, Tom-mey Moore, Pete Butitta, An-thony Butitta, Salvey Butitta, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stokes.

Sally Hinkle Honored With Three Parties

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Heard, Jr., on Auburn avenue, was scene of a lula party Friday evening, July 27, honoring Miss Sally Hinkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle, and bride-elect of Frank Harmon Col-ville of Memphis.

Flambeaux led to the garden gate. Inside the garden, Chinese lanterns, hanging in trees provided a background glow for the fountain which was filled with floating orchids.

Dress for the evening featured hosiery coats for the men and mums for the ladies. Miss Hin-kle's mums was of large red Hawaiian flowers on a back-ground of white, further com-plemented with an orchid lei.

Those sharing the festive party with the honoree guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Burchall Liles, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rivers, Dr. and Mrs. Doyle Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Haydn Cutler, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Woodruff, Miss Ella Dayle of Memphis and John Halstead of Austin, Texas.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Osterland, Miss Keller, Mrs. John Keller, mother of the honoree; and Mrs. Ed-ward Harper.

Miss Keller chose from her trousseau a white and pink model featuring box pleated skirt, which was complimented with a corsage of tube-roses.

As guests arrived, they reg-istered in the bride's book which was placed on a table decorated with memory can-dle surrounded by English Ivy, presided over by Miss Melany Wood.

Alternating at the punch bowl and silver coffee ser-vice were: Misses Sandra Johnson, Julie Scott, Ellen Walker and Marjorie Gilstrap.

The tea table was overlaid with a lace cloth over pink and centered with an arrange-ment of Squamigera Lycoris and tube roses in a crystal bowl; with white tapers in crystal candelabras on either side. Crystal punch bowl was placed at one end of the serv-ing table, and silver coffee service at the other end.

Arrangements of pink roses were in the living room. Gifts were displayed on a table, centered with pink and white miniature bride and groom under an arch of English Ivy, and white wedding bells.

Approximately 75 guests called between the appointed hours.

DEAR SEEKER: There's more wrong here than appears in your letter. Your opening sentence suggests you are nostalgic about the days when you and Frau No. 1 held hands in the dishwasher. Your present wife perhaps as-sociates your cooking with those days and she resents it.

You need outside help before you wind up eating ALL year meals in the garage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have two sisters-in-law who belong to the same church groups as I do. We are all active and attend prayer meetings, missionary classes and church socials. There's something doing at least twice a week.

This has been going on for four years. I didn't pay much attention to it until recently when a friend brought it up. Now I am embarrassed. I've never done anything to my sister-in-law to make her mad at me. She's the cold type so I've left her alone. Do you feel I should ask her to pick me up? — PASSED BY

Kennedy Slates West Areas Trip

By DILLON GRAHAM
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will turn a switch starting power from Oahe Dam in South Dakota on Aug. 17 and the next day he'll take part in groundbreaking ceremonies for the San Luis irrigation system in California.

The White House, announcing the plans Friday described the trip as nonpolitical and said the President is likely to stop at other places, either going or coming.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said he does not know whether George McGovern, Democratic candidate for U.S. senator from South Dakota and a one-time House member, will take part in the ceremony at the dam. McGovern resigned recently as director of the President's Food for Peace program to run for the Senate.

Salinger said Kennedy expects to leave Washington the morning of Aug. 17 but that it has not been decided where he will spend that night or the next. No hour has been set for the switch-turning at the dam, 10 miles from Pierre, S.D. That Missouri River project will send electricity through transmission lines to states in the Upper Midwest.

The groundbreaking for the San Luis project will take place at noon, local time, near Los Banos, Calif., the district now represented by a Democrat, Rep. B. F. Sisk. San Luis will provide a supplemental water supply for 400,000 acres in California.

Kennedy will spend the weekend of Aug. 10 in Maine. He'll attend a charity event at the Brunswick Naval Air Station on Friday night before going on to the John's Island home of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney off the southern coast of Maine for the remainder of the week. Salinger said Tunney would be away and would turn the house over to the President for the weekend. He said Kennedy would have some friends with him but did not identify them.

Salinger was asked whether Kennedy would make other trips in August. "One never knows," he replied.

Clements Foe Pulls Out Of Runoff Race

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Dudley J. LeBlanc, the former patent medicine king who tried for a political comeback in last Saturday's Democratic primary, Friday pulled out of the Public Service Commission runoff.

His action apparently gives the nomination—tantamount to election—to veteran Public Service Commission chairman Ernest Clements of Oberlin.

But LeBlanc, who finished second in a six-man race, did not exit gracefully. He blasted Clements and the Longs. LeBlanc, a former state senator and also a one-time PSC member, polled 32,384 votes to 95,740 for Clements in the 29 parishes comprising the Wnd PSC district.

In Oberlin, Clements said "my record speaks for itself."

"Since he led me by 63,000 votes," LeBlanc said at Lafayette Friday, "my advisors are of the opinion it would be useless to enter a second primary with little or no funds."

"There also was so much vote buying that it made this election—notwithstanding the fact that it was a federal election—appear shameful and disgraceful," said LeBlanc.

"The office pays $60,000 for six years and it is estimated he (Clements) spent over 100,000 in the first primary and is obviously ready to spend that much or more in the second primary," LeBlanc charged.

He said the situation indicates "the way the wind blows" for the gubernatorial race next year.

"The Long people realize this and left no stone unturned, while the anti-Longs were asleep," he said.

Clements had the endorsement of Sen. Russell Long, D-La., in the first primary.

TO GET 'SOUVENIRS'
NEW YORK (UPI)—Diplomats will have a chance to collect colorful new souvenirs of New York starting next Monday.

The souvenirs are shiny green "notices of violation" which will be placed on illegally parked cars of the diplomatic corps. They look quite similar to the tickets that signify a $15 fine for the ordinary motorist. But the diplomats, immune from prosecution, get off with a stern lecture.

TODD GROENEWOLD, 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Groenewold of Rushmore, Minn., has had seven operations in his young life, five of them major. The trouble stemmed from the fact Todd had no connection between his esophagus and stomach when born. Doctors said he survived 100-to-one odds. Now the youngster is getting along like a normal, happy boy, but surgeons say it will take one more operation when Todd is about six years old. (AP Wirephoto)

ASKS NO MOURNING

Professor Explains Unusual Obituary

LONDON (AP)—Prof. L. Dudley Stamp explained Friday one of the most unconventional death announcements ever inserted in the obituary columns of the London Times.

The notice, about his wife, said: "Stamp—At sunset on the cliffs of Widenmouth in the driving seat of her Humber Snipe, a cigarette half-smoked, the Times crossword puzzle nearly completed, Elsa, for 39 years beloved wife and companion of Prof. L. Dudley Stamp. No mourning, please."

Stamp is an economist, geographer and authority on soil erosion.

About the notice he put in the newspaper he said:

"It may sound like a penny novelette, but I had a girl pupil once and the only way I succeeded in teaching her anything was marrying her."

"We had a wonderful life together. Five years ago she had a heart attack, but with the aid of drugs she made a good recovery. But we both knew the end might come anytime."

He added that his wife, a religious woman, often prayed that she would die before her husband, and that it would be quick.

"That's just the way it happened," Stamp went on. "She recently achieved two of her great ambitions. Our son Brian was married and she made a trip to New Zealand. She was supremely happy."

One day early this week, he and his wife drove to a favorite spot to watch the sunset, from their car—the Humber Snipe.

"It was a beautiful sunset," he said, "we watched it together and were just doing the crossword together. She was smoking at the time. Suddenly, the cigarette dropped. I picked it up. She was gone."

Asked why he chose the unusual way of announcing her death, Stamp replied:

"Why not? I wanted all her friends to know just how easily, quickly and simply she went. I think she would have approved."

Cuba Sabotage Increasing

HAVANA (AP)—Recent statements by Fidel Castro and other government officials have acknowledged opposition to his regime through sabotage and shooting.

A number of militiamen and soldiers have fallen to counter-revolutionary bullets in the past few weeks. For the first time since the advent of the revolution, army troops on sentry duty are wearing steel helmets.

Saboteurs have struck at detergent plants and sugar cane fields, and also at places much closer to the consumer's comfort. Interior Trade Minister Manuel Lizardo has revealed one laundry establishment received 1,000 complaints in one month. Rebellious bus drivers were charged with stripping gears of new Czech-made buses.

Discontent caused by an uneven rationing of food brought demonstrations in several provincial towns and the outskirts of Havana.

The Communist paper Hoy has urged a "rekindling of revolutionary spirit." Another daily, Revolucion, closely identified with Castro's personal tastes, recently devoted entire front pages to the "maximum leader's" ascent of the Sierra Maestra Mountains.

Castro took several days off from his Havana schedule and returned to his old center of operations, the area where he harassed the forces of President Fulgencio Batista into defeat. Revolution played it up in full style.

In the hills, Castro found many of the same irregularities that are plaguing his three-year-old revolution. Revolution told of peasants complaining about a lack of vaccines for their hogs, irregular supplies of clothing and footwear, and teachers and sanitary workers who only showed up twice or three times a week.

This, and more, was taking place in Castro's own home province.

Castro's discovery of irregularities caused one magazine writer to ask: "Is it possible that it has to be Fidel who fixes everything?"

In a speech to vacationing sugar mill workers, Castro stated that only workers enrolled in the nationalized unions will enjoy the benefits of the state-owned beaches and resort hotels. He said even independent workers having no employers are not entitled to beach cabanas because they were "not working for society but for themselves."

Despite his familiar Marxist utterings, a number of observers affirm Castro is in the process of shedding old Communists from his revolutionary cadres. They claim large numbers of them, formerly ensconced in different key positions, have been replaced.

The process started four months ago, when Castro denounced Anibal Escalante, one of Cuba's three top Communists, as a "sectarian." He was shipped away to Czechoslovakia and nothing has been heard of him since. In the interim none of the leading Communists has made a published speech on ideological topics.

Seven Taking Drugs To Ward Off Meningitis

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—Seven persons—four of them young children—began taking sulpha drugs Friday to ward off a highly-contagious disease which killed the 5-month old daughter of Douglas Nelson McRee of Palm-dale, Calif.

McRee, 21, a native of Hattiesburg, and the Calvin Thompson family were the subject of a nationwide search after it was learned that McRee's young child died from meningococemia, a virulent, highly communicable form of meningitis.

They were located today in Hattiesburg. McRee, who had gone to California recently, returned here with Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and their four children to find a job.

McRee left Los Angeles Tuesday with the Thompsons, who were driving toward Florida.

He told doctors his baby was "just a little feverish from cutting her teeth" the day he left California. She died the following day and authorities put out an all-points bulletin to locate McRee and the Thompsons so they could seek medical aid.

Medical authorities said they would have to take sulpha tablets for 10 days as a preventative measure.

Wife Is Slain At Franklinton; Suspect Held

FRANKLINTON, La. (AP)—Washington Parish authorities Friday held 46-year-old Maurice Thomas, a pulpwood contractor and farmer, on murder charges in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Louise Jenkins, 38, wife of a Franklinton grocery operator.

Thomas told Washington Parish Sheriff Dorman A. Crowe that he shot Mrs. Jenkins while they were sitting in his parked car Thursday outside his home.

The woman was shot once in the top of the head, once in the chest and once in the side.

Thomas, the father of four children, said he picked Mrs. Jenkins up on the Mississippi Gulf Coast where she had been staying earlier in the day.

New Tremors Jolt Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Earth tremors described as moderate to strong were recorded Friday in Colombia, where 40 persons were killed by a quake last Sunday, and in some of its Latin American neighbor countries.

The western Colombian cities of Manizales and Pereira were jolted at 1 a.m. Many residents fled from their homes into the streets. Others slept right through it.

Prison Post To Teach At Tech

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Institutions Director E. R. Anderson said Friday J. W. Allgood, assistant warden at the state penitentiary, has submitted his resignation effective Aug. 31.

In his letter of resignation, Allgood said he would assume a teaching position on the faculty of Louisiana Tech this fall.

With a $750,000 budget slash at the state penitentiary at Angola causing staff reductions, Warden Victor Walker recently declined comment on reports he might.

At the State Board of Institutions meeting here Thursday, the warden said "we're adjusting" when asked by newsmen how things were going with the budget setback.

Allgood Quits Prison Post To Teach At Tech

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Institutions Director E. R. Anderson said Friday J. W. Allgood, assistant warden at the state penitentiary, has submitted his resignation effective Aug. 31.

In his letter of resignation, Allgood said he would assume a teaching position on the faculty of Louisiana Tech this fall.

With a $750,000 budget slash at the state penitentiary at Angola causing staff reductions, Warden Victor Walker recently declined comment on reports he might.

At the State Board of Institutions meeting here Thursday, the warden said "we're adjusting," when asked by newsmen how things were going with the budget setback.

DEFIES BRITISH ORDER

Airline Refuses To Fly Red Spy

LONDON (AP) — The Israeli airline, El Al, defied Friday night a British order to fly Dr. Robert A. Soblen to the United States and attorneys for the fugitive spy began another effort to help him escape a life sentence in an American prison.

The British Home Office insisted that El Al must fly Soblen, but abandoned its attempts to get him out of this country Friday night.

El Al's refusal—on Israeli government orders—opened avenues of still further litigation in a case that has proved one of the most complicated of its kind in legal history.

"We have directed El Al to make arrangements to have Dr. Soblen taken to America as soon as possible. We are in fact discussing the matter with El Al and until we know the outcome we will not know when he is going," the Home Office said.

"It is clear that he will not be going this evening."

The wording of the statement indicated the Home Office was trying to get El Al to place Soblen on a flight by some other airline.

An El Al spokesman refused comment on the possibility that Soblen's ticket for the United States might be transferred to another airline.

Pan American World Airways said Thursday it had been approached about taking Soblen across the Atlantic.

Soblen's attorneys conceded they could not block the Israeli airline from transferring his ticket to another airline. But they said a British government order transferring him would amount to deportation and they would challenge such an order in courts.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's government appealed directly to Britain to be relieved of the responsibility of transporting the 61-year-old Jewish psychiatrist, whose case has aroused a political controversy in Israel.

Soblen maneuvered his way off a New York-bound airliner by slashing his wrists and stomach in a fake suicide try just before the plane touched down at London for refueling July 1. He was taken off the plane and rushed to a hospital.

The British order for El Al to carry him on the rest of the journey led to an emergency meeting of the Israeli Cabinet.

A spokesman said the sharp note sent to London protested Britain had "no right to tell El Al where it ought to fly and who it ought to fly."

Soblen was held in London's smoke-stained Brixton Prison and two U.S. marshals assigned to keep a close watch on him on the flight across the Atlantic waited at the airport. One of the marshals was Chief James J. P. McShane, who was on the El Al airliner when Soblen stabbed himself.

Soblen made his dash for freedom June 26 when he skipped $100,000 bail in New York on the eve of being sent to federal prison for life for serving as a wartime spy for the Soviet Union.

Entering Israel on the Canadian passport of a dead brother, the Lithuanian-born doctor pleaded for refuge but was ejected for entering the country on false papers.

The government emphasized he was being expelled and not extradited to the United States.

The Israeli government later held that the Law of Return, making Israel a haven for all Jews, was not intended to provide a refuge for fugitive criminals.

Soblen's lawyers in Tel Aviv raised a protest that he was not given a hearing and the uproar reached Parliament. A new attempt was made to let Soblen return on an immigrant's visa but failed.

Soblen's lawyers and friends have repeatedly said that he was in the cashing or forging of bank checks, Thompson and Kinchen said.

Couple Booked On 19 Charges

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Police booked a Baton Rouge couple Friday on 19 charges of forgery and theft involving more than $900.

Detectives E. R. Thompson and Robert Kinchen identified the two as Floyd Ray Irvin, 25, and his wife, Karen, 19.

They said Irvin was a laborer, a technician at a hospital here.

AT BASTROP

Miss Louisiana Day Scheduled

BASTROP (Special)—A special crown of Miss Northeast State day for Diana Jane Smith, Miss Louisiana, has been set here.

The Oak Ridge beauty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith, Rice of Oak Ridge, is the first Morehouse Parish girl to win the state Festival in Winnfield, La. Mardi Gras Ball in Washington, D.C., the state in the Miss America Holiday in Dixie in Shreveport, La., the state in the Miss America Holiday in Dixie in Shreveport, La., the state in the Miss America Holiday in Dixie in Shreveport, La.

She also is the reigning queen of the North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Fair and the second consecutive Cotton Queen to win the title of Miss Louisiana.

She succeeds Miss Lyndra Pate of Shreveport.

The Bastrop Jaycees with Layton Stephenson as chairman and assisted by the Jaycee Jaynes, are promoting the "Diana Smith Day."

Civic clubs, parish and city of fairs, the Cotton Festival, the Bastrop Association of Commerce and Industry, the press, radio and television, plus leaders in industry will be present at a luncheon Wednesday at the Louisiana Motor Hotel honoring the brown-haired beauty.

Hosts for the luncheon will be the civic clubs of Bastrop.

Under the sponsorship of the festival and the Association of Commerce and Industry, the new Miss Louisiana will be introduced at a tea from 3-5 p.m. The event, open to the public, is scheduled in the International House with the Jaycee Jaynes making arrangements for the affair.

Diana was in Bastrop July 28 and July 30 on a tour of the downtown business area and made calls on merchants participating in the celebration.

'War Games' At Fort Polk Described

FORT POLK (Special) — Soldiers here all this week have been engaged in simulated war-time conditions to toughen up their preparedness in case of actual combat.

A "field action" was executed early this week by Monroe's 539th Transportation Battalion as it started the first of two weeks of summer camp.

The First Battle Group, 156th Infantry, La., was ordered to occupy forward positions and prepare to attack elements of the 39th Infantry Division occupying a defensive position in the vicinity of Birds Creek Road and Holy Springs Road.

The 539th, under the command of Lt. Col. James Roberts was to give armored support to the 1-156. Camp Samuel B. Simpson Jr., commander of B Company, Bastrop, and Capt. Gene Hazel, commander of C Company, Ruston, were ordered to get their Armored Personnel Carriers ready.

Later, low-flying aircraft assaulted Capt. Simpson's group twice. The first attack caught the carriers in the middle of the road and on the second, the carriers had dispersed and were hidden among heavy pine groves along the road.

The umpires said no casualties were inflicted.

Clement May Get Republican Election Rival

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Frank G. Clement staged a political comeback to win his third Democratic nomination for governor, but it appeared Friday he might face opposition in the November elections.

Democratic nomination in Tennessee usually means election in November, but indications Friday were that the youthful two-time governor might be opposed by Gen. Herbert Vogel, former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Vogel, a life long Republican was quoted as saying he will "seriously consider" running in November.

Clement got more than 40 per cent of the vote Thursday in winning nomination handily. With about 25 precincts missing he had 292,961 votes to 202,700 for Chattanooga Mayor P. R. Olgiate and 192,087 for Memphis City Commissioner William Farris.

Clement served as governor from 1953-59. When first elected in 1952 at the age of 32 he was one of the nation's youngest governors.

JFK Nudges Congress On Civil Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy gave Congress a sturdy nudge Friday and asked it to get busy on legislation and money for civil defense programs.

In identical letters to key members of the Senate and House, Kennedy called for action now to "increase the capacity of this country to survive and recover after a nuclear blow."

He said the federal government has "an inescapable responsibility to take practical and sensible measures" to minimize loss of life, keep the government going, and provide a base for the nation's survival and recovery from a nuclear attack.

For one thing, Kennedy asked the chairman of the Senate and House Armed Services committees not to put off until next year hearings on whether to put public money into fallout shelters in privately owned buildings.

The House Appropriations Committee turned thumbs down last week on $568.76 million to start a shelter construction program. The reason assigned was that there is no authorizing law for the program but committee sentiment appeared to be against the proposal in any case.

The authorization bill is bottled up in the Armed Services committees of Senate and House.

Kennedy noted that part of his program for providing fallout shelter is well under way as a result of a Defense Department survey and congressional action last summer. The survey showed, he said, that the country already has enough shelter space for 60 million people and the space only needs to be marked and provisioned.

But communities are waiting for the federal government to follow through with supplies, an improved warning system and other assistance. And to do this, the Defense Department wants $235 million which Kennedy said he has asked Congress to appropriate.

Another phase of the civil defense program, Kennedy said, would provide financial help to schools, hospitals and similar nonprofit institutions which want to include fallout shelter space in their buildings. That also was in the fund the House committee refused to approve.

City Commissioners offered a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of anyone involved in the case, if a crime was committed.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES

Soviets Reject Disarming Plan

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union insisted again Friday that worldwide disarmament begin with the total destruction of all means—air, sea and land—of delivering atomic weapons.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin told the 17-nation disarmament conference that Western proposals for gradual elimination of all arms—including nuclear weapons and the vehicles to deliver them—are unacceptable to his government.

Zorin claimed that, under the U.S. disarmament plan, 70 per cent of all rockets, ships, submarines and planes that could handle atomic warheads would continue to exist after the first stage of disarmament "and could become an instrument of aggressive military circles."

Delegations from the United States, Britain, Canada and Italy have repeatedly stressed that the Soviet proposal would upset the military balance to the advantage of the Soviet Union and is therefore unacceptable.

Each time, Zorin has rejected the Western explanations.

He said Friday that U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stille's statement on the point last Wednesday was "an attempt to confuse the issue before the conference."

Stille had pointed to the difficulty of defining clearly all possible means of delivering atomic explosives.

Zorin denounced what he called the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's uncompromising attitude and declared there will be no progress in negotiations unless the West ends its insistence on gradual disarmament.

James Barrington, of Burma, had accused the three nuclear powers of holding up disarmament by what he called their casual handling in a conference subcommittee of neutralist proposals to end atomic testing.

They are tossing the issue back and forth "like a volley ball on the beach," he said.

Conference sources expect the chief U.S. delegate, Arthur H. Dean, to offer a new U.S.-British compromise idea next week on breaking one of the main deadlocks here—the problem of policing atomic testing.

Dean returns to Geneva on Saturday from Washington talks with President Kennedy. He is expected to tell the conference that the United States and Britain are willing to accept Soviet demands for national detection systems supervised by an international authority but only on the condition that a test ban treaty provide for compulsory on-site inspections on Soviet territory.

Diplomatic sources said they do not expect the Soviet Union to accept soon because of Moscow's determination to finish off another round of testing.

DEFIES BRITISH ORDER

Airline Refuses To Fly Red Spy

LONDON (AP) — The Israeli airline, El Al, defied Friday night a British order to fly Dr. Robert A. Soblen to the United States and attorneys for the fugitive spy began another effort to help him escape a life sentence in an American prison.

The British Home Office insisted that El Al must fly Soblen—but abandoned its attempts to get him out of this country Friday night.

El Al's refusal—on Israeli government orders—opened a new chapter in the still further litigation in a case that has proved one of the most complicated of its kind in legal history.

"We have directed El Al to make arrangements to have Dr. Soblen taken to America as soon as possible. We are in fact discussing the matter with El Al and until we know the outcome we will not know when he is going," the Home Office said.

"It is clear that he will not be going this evening."

The wording of the statement indicated the Home Office was trying to get El Al to place Soblen on a flight by some other airline.

An El Al spokesman refused comment on the possibility that Soblen's ticket for the United States might be transferred to another airline.

Pan American World Airways said Thursday it had been approached about taking Soblen across the Atlantic.

Soblen's attorneys conceded they could not block the Israeli airline from transferring his ticket to another airline. But they said a British government order transferring him would amount to deportation and they would challenge such an order in court.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's government appealed directly to Britain to be relieved of the responsibility of transporting the 61-year-old Jewish psychiatrist, whose case has aroused a political controversy in Israel.

Soblen maneuvered his way off a New York-bound airliner by slashing his wrists and stomach in a fake suicide try just before the plane touched down at London for refueling July 1. He was taken off the plane and rushed to a hospital.

The British order for El Al to carry him on the rest of the journey led to an emergency meeting of the Israeli Cabinet. A government spokesman in Jerusalem said the sharp note sent to London protested Britain had "no right to tell El Al where it ought to fly and who it ought to fly."

Soblen was held in London's smoke-stained Brixton Prison and two U.S. marshals assigned to keep a close watch on him on the flight across the Atlantic waited at the airport. One of the marshals was Chief James J. P. McShane, who was on the El Al airliner when Soblen stabbed himself.

Soblen made his dash for freedom June 26 when he skipped $100,000 bail in New York on the eve of being sent to federal prison for life for serving as a wartime spy for the Soviet Union.

Entering Israel on the Canadian passport of a dead brother, the Lithuanian-born doctor pleaded for refuge but was ejected for entering the country on false papers.

The government emphasized he was being expelled and not extradited to the United States.

The Israeli government later held that the Law of Return, making Israel a haven for all Jews, was not intended to provide a refuge for fugitive criminals.

Soblen's lawyers in Tel Aviv raised a protest that he was not given a hearing and the uproar reached Parliament. A new attempt was made to let Soblen return on an immigrant's visa but failed.

Soblen's lawyers and friends have repeatedly said that he was suffering from incurable blood cancer and had only a short time to live.

Couple Booked On 19 Charges

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Police booked a Baton Rouge couple Friday on 19 charges of forgery and theft involving more than $900.

Detectives E. R. Thompson and Robert Kinchen identified the two as Floyd Ray Irvin, 25, and his wife, Karyn, 19.

They said Irvin was a laboratory technician at a hospital here. The pair admitted taking part in the cashing or forging of 19 checks, Thompson and Kinchen said.

AT BASTROP

Miss Louisiana Day Scheduled

BASTROP (Special)—A special day for Diana Jane Smith, Miss Louisiana, has been set here.

The Oak Ridge beauty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith of Oak Ridge, is the first Morehouse Parish girl to win the state title and the chance to represent the state in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J.

She also is the reigning queen of the North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Fair and the second consecutive Cotton Queen to win the title of Miss Louisiana. She succeeds Miss Lyndra Pate of Shreveport.

The Bastrop Jaycees with Layton Stephenson as chairman and assisted by the Jaycee Jaynes, are promoting the "Diana Smith Day."

Civic clubs, parish and city officials, the Cotton Festival, the Bastrop Association of Commerce and Industry, the press, radio and television, plus leaders in industry will be present at a luncheon Wednesday at the Louisiana Motor Hotel honoring the brown-haired beauty.

Hosts for the luncheon will be the civic clubs of Bastrop.

Under the sponsorship of the festival and the Association of Commerce and Industry, the new Miss Louisiana will be introduced at a tea from 3-5 p.m. The event, open to the public, is scheduled in the International House with the Jaycee Jaynes making arrangements for the affair.

Diana was in Bastrop July 28 and July 30 on a tour of the downtown business area and made calls on merchants participating in the celebration.

Miss Smith relinquished the crown of Miss Northeast State College early in May of this year. As Cotton Festival queen, she made official visits to the Forest Festival in Winnfield, Rice Festival in Crowley, Yambille Festival in Opelousas, Mardi Gras Ball in Washington, D.C., Holiday in Dixie in Shreveport, Peach Festival in Ruston and many other festivals throughout Louisiana.

Diana, scheduled to compete in the Miss America Pageant Sept. 3-8, is currently making personal appearances as Miss Louisiana in cities of the state and has officially visited the Miss Arkansas and Miss Mississippi pageants where she performed at the electronic organ, the talent which has helped her win her titles.

Dawkins Orders Registrars To Open Records

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Dawkins Jr. Friday ordered vote registrars in four northwest Louisiana parishes to open their records to U.S. Justice Department inspection next week.

The Justice Department has sought for nearly a year to examine the records in Caddo, Bossier, Webster and DeSoto parishes. Earlier this year, Judge Dawkins ruled the federal agents could look at the vote records but delayed such examination until after the Sept. 1 Democratic runoff primary.

On July 11, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Judge Dawkins' decision but ruled that the Justice Department could begin earlier inspection.

Judge Dawkins ordered Bossier Registrar Mary K. Bryce to open her books Monday, DeSoto Registrar Sidney Platt on Tuesday, Webster Registrar Mrs. Winnie Clement on Wednesday and Caddo Registrar U. Charles Mitchell on Friday.

Two Indicted For Fraud In Sale Of Leases

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The indictment of two men by a federal grand jury for fraud in connection with the sale of interests in oil, gas and mineral leases was disclosed Friday by U.S. Atty. Louis Lacour.

Lacour said one of the men, Alex Crowell, formerly of New Orleans and now a resident of Naples, Fla., was arrested early Friday in Miami, Fla.

The indictments were returned late Thursday by the grand jury to U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert W. Christenberry. Also indicted was Omar Cheer of New Orleans.

The two men are accused of devising a scheme through which about 76 investors were defrauded. Four counts of the 11-count indictment against them charge use of fraud in connection with the sale of interest in leases. Four other counts charge unlawful use of the mails in connection with the operation and two others charge the sale of unregistered securities. The final count is a conspiracy charge.

First Day Back At Work Fatal

HAZLETON, Pa. (UPI)—Daniel Strachko, 40, was killed in an asphalt plant accident Friday, his first day back at work since being laid off last November.

Strachko, a seasonal worker who was married and the father of six children, was crushed when he fell into a bucket conveyor belt at the A. Barletta and Sons plant.

Police said employees noticed that the belt had stopped, then found Strachko's body wedged between the belt and a large pulley wheel.

ELIZABETH KING of London, member of the British tiddlywinks team, lines up her next move in a demonstration following their arrival in Hoboken Friday for a tour of the United States. Overseeing her are, from left, Peter J. Freeman of Malvern, Phillip Moore of Wolverhampton and Dave Willis of Doncaster, Yorkshire. The team will see action for the first time in the U.S. when they meet an equally nosey group Friday in a Manhattan restaurant. (AP Wirephoto)

'War Games' At Fort Polk Described

FORT POLK (Special) — Soldier-citizens all this week have been engaged in simulated wartime conditions to toughen up their preparedness in case of actual combat.

A "field action" was executed early this week by Monroe's 539th Transportation Battalion as it started the first of two weeks of summer camp.

The First Battle Group, 156th Infantry, La., was ordered to occupy forward positions and prepare to attack elements of the 39th Infantry Division occupying a defensive position in the vicinity of Birds Creek Road and Holy Springs Road.

The 539th, under the command of Lt. Col. James Roberts was to give armored support to the 1-156. Camp. Samuel B. Simpson Jr., commander of B Company, Bastrop, and Capt. Gene Hazel, commander of C Company, Ruston, were ordered to get their Armored Personnel Carriers ready.

Later, low-flying aircraft assaulted Capt. Simpson's group twice. The first attack caught the carriers in the middle of the road and on the second, the carriers had dispersed and were hidden among heavy pine groves along the road.

The umpires said no casualties were inflicted.

Clement May Get Republican Election Rival

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Frank G. Clement staged a political comeback to win his third Democratic nomination for governor, but it appeared Friday he might face opposition in the November elections.

Democratic nomination in Tennessee usually means election in November, but indications Friday were that the youthful two-time governor might be opposed by Gen. Herbert Vogel, former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Vogel, a life-long Republican was quoted as saying he will "seriously consider" running in November.

Clement got more than 40 per cent of the vote Thursday in winning nomination handily. With about 25 precincts missing he had 292,961 votes to 202,700 for Chattanooga Mayor P. R. Olgiati and 192,087 for Memphis City Commissioner William Farris.

Clement served as governor from 1953-59. When first elected in 1952 at the age of 32 he was one of the nation's youngest governors.

British, Europe Market Agree On Tariff Plan

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Britain and the Common Market countries Friday reached tariff agreement on imports into the community of all manufactured goods from India, Pakistan and Ceylon with the exception of jute, a spokesman announced Friday.

The agreement depends on Britain's current negotiations to join the Common Market.

No details of the agreement were available immediately. The spokesman said, however, that the question of jute will be discussed again in September.

Informed sources said the ministers agreed that the system of preferential tariffs now enjoyed by the three countries for their exports to Britain will be abolished gradually.

They said this would be done in stages:

- 20 per cent on Britain's entry into the Common Market.
- 20 per cent 18 months later.
- 30 per cent another 18 months later.

The final 30 per cent simultaneously with the full application of the community's common external tariff. This is scheduled to come at the end of the transition period of Jan. 1, 1970.

FOUL PLAY FEARED

Official Probing Crime Disappears

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Authorities confirmed Friday that a young member of the City Commission who disappeared two nights ago had been active in a city crime investigation.

Montgomery County Prosecutor Paul Young declined to give details, but indicated that he and David Pottinger 26, shared a suspicion that Dayton has been infiltrated by closed-down vice and gambling interests from northern Kentucky.

"I'm frankly worried," said Young. "Someone may have found that he has been conferring with me and feared he had learned something and was going to pass it on to me."

Pottinger, believed to have been carrying $2,000 at the time of his disappearance after a commission meeting Wednesday night, was particularly interested in gambling activities in East Dayton, Young said.

The commissioner's wife, Martha Jean, said she shared the belief that her husband's disappearance was connected with the crime probe. Mrs. Pottinger said she recalled that recently when a man's body was found in a car in suburban Huber Heights, Pottinger said, "There's too much of this going on."

Meanwhile, police said they were not discounting the possibility that Pottinger may have been robbed. Officers said they were uncertain of the reason Pottinger was carrying such a large sum, but that they had one report he intended to use the money as a down payment on a house.

City Commissioners offered a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of anyone involved in the case, if a crime was committed.

Some 150 Boy Scouts helped search the area where Pottinger's abandoned station wagon was found, but turned up nothing new, authorities said.

Soviet Fleets Active Near U.S. Coasts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet fishing fleets in the Atlantic Ocean are moving southward and now are exploring waters off the coasts of the Carolinas, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said Friday.

Magnuson, in a speech to the Senate, said American fishermen were "being crowded out of our own front yards by massive foreign fishing fleets, and especially by the Russians."

He was joined by Sen. Benjamin A. Smith, D-Mass., in the introduction of bills to increase federal subsidies for the construction of fishing vessels and to authorize construction of two large trawlers for use in the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans.

The Washington Democrat said latest reports indicated that 169 Soviet vessels were operating on Georges Bank near Cape Cod. This, he said, amounted to "more ships than the New England fishing fleets put together."

Magnuson said this was the fourth year the Russians have fished off the coast of Labrador, the third off the Grand Banks and the second off Georges Bank.

"Each year the Russians move further south, and they now have exploratory ships off the North Carolina and South Carolina coasts," he said.

He said the only alternative to "surrendering" fisheries resources to foreign fishing fleets would be to enact legislation to help American fishermen compete with them.

The two trawlers, called for in one bill by the Commerce Committee chairman, would be used chiefly to develop advanced technology in the production, processing and preservation of fisheries products.

JFK Nudges Congress On Civil Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy gave Congress a sturdy nudge Friday and asked it to get busy on legislation and money for civil defense programs.

In identical letters to key members of the Senate and House, Kennedy called for action now to "increase the capacity of this country to survive and recover after a nuclear blow." He said the federal government has "an inescapable responsibility to take practical and sensible measures" to minimize loss of life, keep the government going, and provide a base for the nation's survival and recovery from a nuclear attack.

For one thing, Kennedy asked the chairman of the Senate and House Armed Services committees not to put off until next year hearings on whether to put public money into fallout shelters in privately owned buildings.

The House Appropriations Committee turned thumbs down last week on $568.76 million to start a shelter construction program. The reason assigned was that there is no authorizing law for the program but committee sentiment appeared to be against the proposal in any case.

The authorization bill is bottled up in the Armed Services committees of Senate and House.

Kennedy noted that part of his program for providing fallout shelter is well under way as a result of a Defense Department survey and congressional action last summer. The survey showed, he said, that the country already has enough shelter space for 60 million people and the space only needs to be marked and provisioned.

But communities are waiting for the federal government to follow through with supplies, an improved warning system and other assistance. And to do this, the Defense Department wants $235 million which Kennedy said he has asked Congress to appropriate.

Another phase of the civil defense program, Kennedy said, would provide financial help to schools, hospitals and similar nonprofit institutions which want to include fallout shelter space in their buildings. That also was in the fund the House committee refused to approve.
